PREFACE

In this volume an attempt has been made to bring together for the first time and to render accessible in English form the chief manuscript sources of the earliest history of Canada. The majority of these documents have appeared in print already, but the texts here given have, wherever possible, been either copied from or collated with the original manuscripts. In some few cases facsimiles have been used.

The translations are in every case new, and in view of the publication of the original Latin, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese, a somewhat free rendering has been adopted. It has not been considered necessary to translate the French documents.

From these sources and from the printed volumes and atlases listed in the appendix has been compiled the introduction. Owing to the fragmentary nature of the material available this is necessarily an incomplete story. Many of the statements in the same are purely conjectural and must be considered as nothing more than working hypotheses. As such it is hoped that they may stimulate the interests or arouse the curiosity of fresh investigators. Should such a result follow, and the narrow bounds of our knowledge of early Canadian history be in consequence extended, one of the main objects of this volume will have been achieved.

It is with gratitude and with pleasure that the editor acknowledges the valuable assistance of many friends and scholars. To Mr. Hubert Hall, F.S.A., author of the standard work on the English archives, and to Dr. S. E. Dawson, C.M.G., whose labours have contributed so materially to the elucidation of the Cabot voyages, especial thanks are due for much help and counsel. In the transcription of the documents that follow, Sr. D. Pedro Torres Lanzas of the Archivo de Indias at Seville, Sr. Pedro A. d'Azevedo of the Torre do Tombo at Lisbon, Sr. D. Julian Paz of the Archivo General de Simancas, and Cav. Giovanni Ognibene of the Archivio di Stato at Modena, were of great assistance during the editor's visits to those places. He wishes also to thank Mr. E. H. Pooley, Clerk of the Drapers' Company, for permission to examine that company's records. One of the Frari manuscripts was kindly collated by Monsieur J. Plattard, Docteur ès Lettres; while in the translation of the Spanish and Portuguese documents the editor received much help from the expert knowledge of Monsieur R. Foulché-Delbosc, of Paris, the editor of the Revue Hispanique. Mr. S. V. Blake, of Trosley, Kent, has been good enough to read the Introduction, which with the remainder of the volume, has been improved by the criticisms of Drs. Doughty and Roy of the Archives Branch. To each and all of the above the editor here expresses his warmest thanks.

INTRODUCTION

The European explorer who at the close of the fifteenth century¹ first sighted that portion of North America subsequently called Canada was Giovanni Caboto, of Genoa². Of Cabot's early life nothing is known. We hear of him first in 1461 when he removed from Genoa and took up his residence in Venice, probably on account of the numerous factories maintained by that republic throughout the Levant. On one of his trading voyages to the eastern Mediterranean, Cabot, who in 1476 was naturalized a Venetian citizen,³ made his way via Alexandria and the Red Sea to, as he asserts, Mecca,⁴ which city was then the greatest mart in the world for the exchange of the goods of the west for those of the east. On inquiry whence came the spices, perfumes, silks and precious stones offered at Mecca for barter, Cabot was informed that they were brought by caravan from the northeastern part of further Asia.⁵ Being versed in a knowledge of the sphere, it occurred to him that this merchandise might be transported to Europe by sailing straight across the western ocean. Compared with the long camel route from northeastern Asia to Mecca and thence to Alexandria and Venice, the voyage by water from Asia to Europe would effect a veritable revolution in trade. The first step in such a change was to find the course across the western ocean from Europe to Asia.

Filled with this idea, Cabot about the year 1484 made his way in the Venetian galleys to England, and settled in London.¹ In course of time his plans were made known to the merchants of Bristol, from which port an extensive trade was then carried on with Iceland.² It was decided that an attempt should be made first of all to find the island of Brazil or that of the Seven Cities, which on most medieval maps were placed to the west of Ireland.³ Such islands might form the stepping stones of the new path to Asia across the western sea.

Vessels were despatched from Bristol in 1491 and 1492, presumably under Cabot's direction, to find the island of Brazil or that of the Seven Cities, but to no purpose.⁴ No land of any sort could be seen. It looked as if this venture might have as unsuccessful an issue as that made from the same port in 1480.⁵

When matters were in this state news reached England in the summer of 1493 that another Genoese, Christopher Columbus, had sailed from Spain westward with three ships, and had reached the Indies. Great excitement prevailed at the English court.⁶ Interest in Cabot's plan was augmented by a visit which Henry VII. and his court paid to Bristol in the winter of 1495-6.¹ As a result, letters patent were issued on 5 March, 1496,² whereby Henry VII. granted to his 'wel-beloved John Cabot, citizen of Venice, to Lewis, Sebastian and Santius, sonnes of the said John, full and free authority, leave and power to saile to all parts, countries and seas of the East, of the West, and of the North, under our banners and ensignes, with five ships, of what burthen soever they be, and as many mariners or men as they will have with them in the said ships, upon theyr owne proper costs and charges, to seeke out, discover and finde whatsoever isles, countries, regions or provinces of the heathen and infidels, in what part of the world soever they be, which before this time, have beene unknownen to all Christians.' 'In every village, towne, castle, isle or mainland of them newly found' the king's 'banners and ensigns' were to be displayed. Furthermore, 'as often as they shall arrive at our port of Bristol, at the which port they shall be holden only to arrive,' they were to pay unto the king, after deduction of their necessary expenses, 'the fifth part of the gain of all fruits, profits, gaines and commodities growing of such navigation.' Everything brought from the new lands was to pass the customs free of duty; and no one might visit those regions 'without the license of the foresayd John and his sonnes.'

Armed with these powers, John Cabot prepared to set sail for the coast of Asia. In June, 1496, Columbus had returned from his second expedition, bringing gold and tropical merchandise. High hopes were held that Cabot would meet with a like success. On Tuesday, 2 May, 1497, in command of a vessel called the Mathew, manned by eighteen men, he finally set sail from Bristol.³

Rounding Ireland, he steered first north and then west.

During several weeks of variable winds their course was irregular, although steadily westward.¹ At length after being fifty-two days at sea, about five o'clock on Saturday morning, 24 June, they sighted what from the La Cosa and Sebastian Cabot maps would appear to have been the western extremity of Cape Breton island.²

With the royal banner unfurled, John Cabot set foot on land, and in solemn form took possession of the country in the name of King Henry VII. The soil being found fertile and the climate temperate, Cabot was convinced that he had reached the northeastern extremity of Asia, whence came the silks and spices which had been displayed for barter at Mecca. No people were observed, but some snares set for game and a notch here and there among the trees showed that the country was inhabited.³ Cape Breton was christened Cape Discovery, and the day being the festival of St. John the Baptist, they gave to Scatari island, which lies a few miles from the shore, the name of the island of St. John.⁴

Wood and water having been taken on board, preparations were made to return home with the good news. Cape Ray, which at a distance is most conspicuous, Cabot named apparently St. George's cape, while to St. Pierre and Miquelon, which with Langlade then formed three separate islands, he gave the name of the Trinity group.⁵ Along this southern coast of Newfoundland the explorers met great schools of cod, which the sailors caught merely by lowering baskets into the water and hauling them up again full of fish.¹ Cape Race, the last land seen, they christened England's cape.²

The prevailing winds in the North Atlantic being from the west, the return voyage was made without difficulty, and on Sunday, 6 August, the Mathew dropped anchor once more in Bristol harbour.³ Cabot hastened to court, and on Thursday, 10 August, received from the king a present of ten pounds ($600) for having 'found the new isle.'⁴ Cabot reported that some 700 leagues beyond Ireland he had reached the country of the Grand Khan. Now that the course was known the voyage could be made in a fortnight. Although both silk and brazilwood were to be obtained at the spot where he had landed, it was his intention on his next voyage to proceed further south along that coast until he came to Cipangu or Japan, in his opinion the cradle of all riches of the East. Once Cipangu had been reached, London would become a greater dépôt for species than Alexandria itself.⁵

Henry VII. was delighted, and promised Cabot in the spring a large fleet with which to sail to Cipangu. Meanwhile the discoverer was given a pension of $20, equivalent in modern currency to about $1,200.⁶ Part of this largesse Cabot spent on a new silk doublet and hose. Dressed in these, he allowed himself to be lionized during the winter by the rich merchants of London.⁷

Fresh letters patent were issued on 3 February, 1498, by which Cabot was empowered to 'take at his pleasure vi englisshe shippes and theym convey and lede to the londe and iles of late founde by the said John.¹ Henry VII. furthermore himself advanced considerable sums of money to various members of the expedition.² As success seemed assured, it was hoped the ships would return laden with the riches of the East.

On a visit paid by Cabot to Lisbon and to Seville, to engage the services of men who had sailed to the East with Da Gama or who had navigated with Columbus to the Indies,³ he appears to have met a certain João Fernandez, called llavrador, who about the year 1492 had made his way from Iceland to Greenland.⁴ As Greenland, which was then thought to form part of Asia, lay so near Iceland, Cabot, from the scanty evidence available, would seem to have made up his mind to steer a more northerly course on this voyage.

Early in May, the expedition, which consisted of two ships and 300 men, set sail from Bristol.⁵ Several vessels in the habit of trading to Iceland appear to have accompanied them.⁶ Off Ireland, a storm forced one of these to return; but the fleet proceeded on its way along the parallel of 5°. ⁷ The further they advanced the more they were carried to the north by the Gulf Stream. At length early in June Cabot sighted the east coast of Greenland.⁸ Fernandez having been the first to tell him in this country, he named it 'the Labrador's land.'⁹

In the hope of discovering an opening westward, Cabot first followed the coast towards the north. Gradually the cold became more intense and the icebergs grew more numerous and massive. It was also observed that the land trended back towards the east. For these reasons on 11 June, in latitude $67^{\circ} 30'$, the crews mutinied and refused to proceed further in the direction of the pole. Cabot had no alternative but to put his ships about and seek for an opening further south.¹

On reaching cape Farewell the ships were headed along the southwest coast of Greenland, which little by little curves towards the north. Cabot appears to have navigated his ships up this west coast of Greenland as far as the present Sukkertoppen district in 66° , where further progress was checked by the icebergs that come down from Disko bay. Throughout its whole length this coast presents a series of precipitous and lofty headlands that arise at times to a height of 4,000 feet. On meeting these icebergs, Cabot altered his course to the west, and at length came in sight of Baffin's land, at that point distant from Greenland only 150 miles.

Sailing southward along this coast, which is described as mountainous, rugged, bleak and barren, the explorer at length reached Hudson's strait, which bounds Baffin's land on the south.² Proceeding down the coast of our modern Labrador, in Cabot's belief the Asiatic mainland, he must have been surprised and disappointed to find that the Indians had nothing better to offer for barter than furs and fish.³

Our strait of Belle-Isle was mistaken for an ordinary bay, and the eastern coast of Newfoundland for the continuation of the main shore already explored to the north. Cabot was much struck by 'the greate plentie of beares' along this coast 'which

Rounding cape Race, or as they had named it on their former voyage, England's cape, the explorers visited once more the regions discovered in the previous summer. They proceeded to make their way southward along the coast of our Nova Scotia and New England, perhaps in the hope of reaching Cipangu, then placed in the region of the equator. The absence of all trace of eastern civilization, as well as the low state of their stores, induced them, on reaching the parallel of 38°, near Chesapeake bay, to bring their exploration to an end for that year.³ The ships were put about and a course set for England, where they arrived safely late in the same autumn.⁴

The reception accorded the Cabots must have been a cold one. On setting forth they had promised to bring home cargoes of spices and rich gems: on their return they had nothing to show but a few furs and the story of a barren land. The disappointment among the merchants who had advanced funds for this voyage appears to have been great since no fresh expedition left Bristol for three years, and the one sent out in 1501 was not entrusted to the Cabots.

Meanwhile the Portuguese had set about exploring these same coasts. On the island of Terceira, where Fernandez had his home, lived a nobleman named Gaspar Corte Real, who was so deeply interested in the discoveries then being made, that at his own expense he had set sail in search of new lands. On

12 May, 1500, King Manoel granted him the governorship of any country or island he should discover within the Portuguese sphere of influence.¹ By the Treaty of Tordesillas concluded with Spain on 7 June, 1494, Portugal had consented to limit her possessions in the west by a line running north and south 370 leagues beyond the Cape Verde islands.²

Sailing from Terceira in the spring of 1500, Corte Real set his course towards the northwest, and about the middle of June reached the east coast of Greenland. Like the Cabots, he first proceeded north, but at the end of June was obliged, as they had been, to come about and to head towards the south. Rounding cape Farewell, to which he gave the appropriate and sinister name of cape Get-sight-of-me-and-leave-me, Corte Real made his way up the south-west coast of Greenland. Several striking headlands and other landmarks were named after his father, João Vaz Corte Real. Near North Ström fiord, in 67° 30', the explorer again encountered icebergs, whereupon he put his ships about, and passing southward, set his course for Lisbon, where he arrived safely sometime in the same autumn.³

Corte Real reported to King Manoel that the country he had explored called Greenland or Labrador was so wrapped in snow and ice that he had been able to land in a very few places.⁴ The natives were of medium height, and great archers, lived in rocky caves or thatched cottages, and clothed themselves in the skins of animals.⁵ A fresh expedition would, he hoped, produce results of more importance, and preparations were accordingly begun to return thither in the following spring.¹

Three vessels were fitted out, and with these Corte Real set sail from Lisbon on 15 May, 1501.² When nearing cape Farewell the ships ran into one of those packs of field-ice,³ which are carried down the east coast of Greenland by a current from the north. To clear this ice they altered their course to the westward. After sailing for some days in that direction, Corte Real sighted our modern Labrador, probably near cape Mugford, in latitude 58°, where the coast rises to a height of over 3,000 feet.⁴

Seeing that towards the north the shore still rose in height while the whole region looked extremely barren and desolate, Corte Real concluded that this coast formed one with the land explored in the previous summer, and for that reason decided to follow it towards the south.⁵ Up one of the many inlets with which Labrador is indented, perhaps Hamilton inlet, which they named the Doe's bay,⁶ the Portuguese came upon a band of Nasquapee Indians. Having been taught by the African slave-trade to look upon all natives as booty, Corte Real had some sixty of these Indians seized and stowed away under the hatches.⁷

Continuing his course southward he mistook our strait of Belle-Isle for a bay, and also assumed that the east coast of Newfoundland formed the continuation of the main shore already explored to the north.⁸ Belle Isle was named Friar

Lewis's island,¹ but cape Bonavista still retains the name given to it by Corte Real of cabo de Boa Vista, or Fairview cape.² Trinity bay received the name of St. Irene's bay, after a well-known Portuguese saint.³ Further to the south both Baccalieu island and Conception bay preserve the names given to them by Gaspar Corte Real. Ferryland was christened Farelhão, or the Rocky Promontory, and our Fermense, rio Feroso, or the Pretty river. Cape Race owes its name either to its barren appearance (cabo Razo) or to its semblance to a cape of the same name at the mouth of the Tagus.⁴

Rounding this great headland, Corte Real coasted along the southern shores of Newfoundland as far as Placentia bay, which he named the Big bay.⁵ He appears to have called St. Mary's bay between it and cape Race, the harbour of the Cross, because of a festival celebrated on 14 September.⁶

About this date in one of the harbours on the west side of Placentia bay, Corte Real took leave of his two consorts. While they made their way home to Lisbon, he wished to continue his exploration towards the south in order to ascertain the connexion between this great continent and the islands discovered near the equator by Christopher Columbus.⁷

The two caravels having on board the Indians reached Lisbon in safety, the first on the 9th and the second on the 11th of October. The return voyage had only occupied a month.¹ King Manoel was delighted at the discovery of this extensive country rich in slaves and covered with timber, and hoped with such resources at his disposal to continue successfully his conquests in the East Indies.²

In the same summer of 1501 the merchants of Bristol sent out a fresh expedition to the west. By letters patent issued on 19 March, 1501, Henry VII. granted to Richard Warde, Thomas Ashurst and John Thomas, of Bristol, together with João and Francis Fernandez and João Gonzales, of the Azores, permission to undertake explorations in the west, with a monopoly of trade to the region discovered during ten years, and licence to enter one vessel at Bristol free of duty during four years.³ Under this authority an expedition was despatched from Bristol to the westward, but what region it visited we do not know. The sole record that has come down to us is an entry in the king's accounts under 7 January, 1502, of five pounds paid 'to the men of Bristol that founde the Isle.'⁴ From this we gather that they may have revisited the south coast of Newfoundland first explored in 1497 by John Cabot.

Meanwhile the autumn passed without anything being seen of Gaspar Corte Real. His exploration of the region to the west of Placentia bay had evidently been fraught with peril. In this belief, his brother Michael resolved to go in search of him, and on 15 January, 1502, King Manoel ratified Michael's claim to the country already explored by Gaspar.⁵ Three vessels were fitted out, and with these Michael set sail from Lisbon on 10 May, 1502.⁶

On reaching Newfoundland in June, it was decided that each vessel should examine a separate part of the coast, with orders to meet at St. Johns on 20 August.¹ One vessel appears to have explored the region beyond Placentia bay, which was the point at which Gaspar had parted company with his two consorts. Chapeau Rouge, a conical hill which marks the western extremity of this bay, was named apparently the Pilot's cape,² while to Langlade they gave the name of the Green island, in contrast to the barrenness of the opposite mainland.³ Cape La Hune, a notable landmark further westward, was christened cape Shallop,⁴ perhaps from the fact that they found here one of Gaspar's boats. Near Grand Bruit the Indians appear to have offered goods for barter, on which account the Portuguese named this highland, the Peddler's cape.⁵

Rounding cape Ray, to which they gave the appropriate name of cape Bend,⁶ this vessel probably proceeded for a considerable distance up the west coast of Newfoundland. St. George's bay and river being found much more pleasant than any part of the south coast, received the name of the Pretty river.⁷ This bay is separated from Port-au-Port bay by a narrow isthmus, in places less than one hundred yards in width, on which account they named Port-au-Port bay, Athwart bay.⁸ To the bay of Islands into which flows the largest river in Newfoundland, they gave the name of the Large river,¹ while Bonne bay, being only four miles in width, was named the Small bay.² The coast hitherto high becomes at this point a flat shelving beach, which change is indicated on the old Portuguese maps by the inscription 'flat shore.'³ At St. Paul's bay they saw Indians, wherefore they called it, the Natives' river.⁴ They do not appear to have proceeded beyond Cow head, or as they named it, the cape of the Gulf,⁵ from which point they returned to the rendezvous at St. Johns.

Here on 20 August, this vessel and one of the others met as agreed, but neither had seen a trace of Gaspar Corte Real. To make matters worse, Michael's ship was now missing. After waiting in vain for some time these two returned alone to Portugal.⁶

The same summer another expedition was also despatched from Bristol to Newfoundland, but what portion of the coast it visited we do not know. It returned in September with 'three men brought out of an Iland forre beyonde Ireland, the which were clothed in Beestes skynnes and ate raw flesshe and were rude in their demeanure as Beestes.'⁷ To Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales, now naturalized Englishmen, who evidently formed part of this expedition, Henry VII. on the 26th of the same month granted a pension of ten pounds each ($600) 'in consideracion of the true service which they have doon unto us, oure singler pleasure as Capitaignes into the new founde lande'¹; and four days later he gave a further sum of twenty pounds 'to the merchants of Bristol that have bene in the newe founde lande.'² It should be borne in mind — of course that this expression then embraced a much wider extent of coast than that of our present Newfoundland.³

Fresh letters patent were issued on 9 December, 1502, empowering Fernandez, Gonzales, Ashurst and one Hugh Eliot of Bristol to undertake further explorations in the west on condition they did not enter any territory already in possession of the king of Portugal. They were granted a monopoly of trade to the region explored for forty years, with permission to enter two vessels at Bristol free of duty during five years.⁴ Under these and the former letters patent of 19 March, 1501, which were still in force,⁵ expeditions appear to have left Bristol both in 1503 and 1504; but unfortunately we are without information as to the region visited.⁶

We are also in ignorance of the region examined by the two ships sent out by King Manoel in 1503 to look for the missing brothers, Gaspar and Michael Corte Real. This search which did not prove successful was doubtless limited to the coast explored by the Portuguese in 1501 and 1502.⁷ As the two brothers were evidently lost, their rights were transferred in September, 1506, to the third brother, Vasco Annes, who had assumed the debts incurred in fitting out the former expeditions.⁸ It may have been in connexion with these that in the following month a tax was imposed at Vianna on the cod brought to Portugal from the Banks of Newfoundland.⁹

Although the Bretons may have visited the Banks even before the expeditions of the Cabots,¹ it was not until 1504 that French fishing vessels proceeded as far as Newfoundland.² The harbours from cape Race to cape Bonavista being occupied by the fishermen from Portugal, the French were obliged to have recourse to those which lie from cape Race westward to cape Breton.³ In 1508 a ship called the Pensée, of Dieppe, showed the fishermen of Normandy the way to the harbours north of cape Bonavista.⁴ One of these Norman fishing vessels in the following year brought home to Rouen seven Indians and a canoe.⁵

Thus Spain remained the only country of western Europe whose subjects had not visited the region. In October, 1511, King Ferdinand concluded an agreement with a certain Juan de Agramonte for a voyage of discovery to Newfoundland.⁶ Although this compact was ratified by Queen Joanna,⁷ no record exists to show that the expedition, which was to be piloted by Bretons, ever set sail from Santander.

During the next decade the Breton, Portuguese, English and French fishermen appear to have continued their yearly expeditions to the Banks,⁸ but it was not until 1520 that a fresh exploration was made of this region. In that year João Alvares Fagundes, of Vianna, the fisherman of which town had long visited the Banks, applied for and received a grant of the lands or islands he should discover within the Portuguese sphere of influence.⁹ Setting sail from Vianna, perhaps with the annual fishing fleet, he appears to have explored the coast from Nova Scotia as far as Placentia bay in Newfoundland.

On sighting our Nova Scotia, probably about the middle of June, he gave to Chedabucto bay the name of Freshwater bay, doubtless for the reason that a fresh supply was obtained there.¹ Along the coast of Cape Breton island Fagundes met the fishermen from Brittany, after whom the most easterly point of that island has always borne the name of cape Breton.² Continuing his way along that coast, Fagundes, on 29 June seems to have named Sydney harbour, St. Peter and St. Paul river,³ while St. Anne bay, the opening beyond Bras d'Or, was christened perhaps on 5 July the river of St. James.⁴ Along this coast the explorer appears to have caught sight of Indians; for many of the old maps bear the legend, 'Region of many people.'⁵ Pushing northward, Fagundes arrived at length at Cape North, the northeastern extremity of Cape Breton island, which on account of its height he named the Thick or Big cape.⁶

The southern entrance of the gulf of St. Lawrence was mistaken for a bay, and is so represented on most of the early Portuguese maps.¹ To cape Ray, which is a lofty headland, Fagundes gave the name of the Beautiful cape.² Making his way along the south coast of Newfoundland, he named an opening which appears to have been La Poile bay, the bay of Islands.³ St. Pierre, Miquelon and Langlade were christened the Eleven Thousand Virgins,⁴ and to Chapeau Rouge, which marks the entrance to Placentia bay, Fagundes gave the same name.⁵ As this festival falls on 21 October, it must have been late in the autumn when the explorer reached Placentia bay, whence he set sail for Portugal.

In the course of the winter Fagundes appeared before King Manoel, and supported by credible witnesses proved his title to the islands from Chedabucto to Placentia bays. By letters patent issued on 13 March, 1521, these islands were made over to him.⁶ This grant in no way infringed the rights of the Corte Reals, which King John III., on ascending the throne, renewed to Vasco Annes Corte Real on 17 September, 1522.⁷ Fagundes was never able to take advantage of his grant, and at

Cardinal Wolsey, in the spring of 1521, wished to despatch five ships on 'a viage into the Newfound Iland,'² but the City Companies being unwilling to help, nothing was done until 1527. Meanwhile the English fishermen as well as those of France continued their yearly voyages to the Banks,³ and in August, 1522, a man-of-war was ordered to the mouth of the Channel to protect 'the commyng home of the new found Isleslandes flete.'⁴ Giovanni da Verrazano having explored the Atlantic seaboard from Florida northward for Francis I. in 1524, 'approached to the lande that in times past was discovered by the Britons,' whence 'being furnished with water and wood,' he returned to Dieppe.⁵

A Spanish vessel was sent to explore this region in the winter of 1524-5. Stephen Gomez, the commander, was by birth a Portuguese, and in his youth had probably come in contact with the fishermen of Vianna who yearly sailed to the Banks. With the fleets from Lisban he had also visited the East Indies.⁶ Hoping to better his condition he, like Magellan, entered the service of Spain; but while Magellan was given command of the fleet sent in search of a new route to the East, Gomez had to content himself with the modest post of pilot of the flagship. He was not sorry, therefore, when in October, 1520, at the entrance to the strait of Magellan the crew of the St. Anthony, to which he had been transferred, mutinied, and putting the captain in irons, set sail for Spain.¹ Gomez lost no time in petitioning for a fleet with which to seek between Newfoundland and Florida for a passage to the East. By an agreement executed on 27 March, 1523, Charles V. consented to furnish him with a caravel of fifty tons provisioned for one year.² Sebastian Cabot, who was then preparing to set sail on his expedition to the Moluccas, approved of Gomez's plan,³ by which it was hoped many islands would be discovered 'rich in gold and silver, spices and drugs.'⁴ The caravel for Gomez was made ready at Corunna, which town and district were ordered by the emperor to provide the ship with all necessary supplies.⁵

Setting sail from Corunna on 3 August, 1524,⁶ Gomez reached Newfoundland probably in September, but having been forbidden to enter any territory in possession of the king of Portugal,⁷ appears to have sailed westward to Cape Breton island, which he coasted towards the south. Our Bras d'Or, on account of its double entrance was christened the 'river with two mouths.'⁸ Being ignorant of the fact that Canso Gut was a passage between Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, Gomez gave to Chedabucto bay, leading to this Gut, the name of the 'bay with the Cove.'⁹ Continuing his exploration southwards he named two openings on the coast of Nova Scotia which appear to have been our Ship and Halifax harbours, Chestnut-grove river¹ and the river of Mountains.²

Rounding cape Sable, the reefs off which are indicated on the maps of the time,³ Gomez penetrated into the bay of Fundy. The further he advanced the more he became convinced that this was the strait of which he was in search. Great therefore was his disappointment on reaching the head of the bay. He named it Doe river,⁴ on account, no doubt, of the deer seen along its shores.

Passing south outside of Grand Manan island, which he mistook for the main shore, Gomez named its southwest head, the cape of Many Islands.⁵ Making his way southward along the coast of the mainland he gave to Schoodie point, probably on New Year's Day, 1525,⁶ the name of cape St. Mary.⁷ The numerous islands that fill Frenchman and Penobscot bays were christened Stephen Gomez's archipelago,⁸ while Penaquid point, on account of its reefs, was called Reef point.⁹ To Sheepscat river he appears to have given the name of the Dry river.¹⁰ Just beside it is the Kennebec, but since the mouth of the latter lies hidden among the islands, it escaped detection. On 18 February, Caseo bay was christened John the Baptist's bay.¹ Still hugging the shore Gomez proceeded southward, and on 25 March, gave to Saco river the name of Good Mother river, in commemoration of the Virgin's Conception.² Three days later he named the Merrimac, St. Anthony's river.³ Boston bay received, probably on 14 April, the name of St. Christopher's bay.⁴ Continuing his way southward Gomez found himself inclosed in the hook of Cape Cod, to which cape he gave the name of cape St. James,⁵ which festival falls on the first of May.

Gomez in the course of his exploration of the gulf of Maine had taken prisoner a number of Indians.⁶ In what way this was done we are not informed. On account of the extra demand upon the stores which their presence entailed, and of the absence of any indication of a passage to the East, it was determined to forego further exploration of the coast and to set a direct course for Cuba.

Rounding cape Cod, Gomez gave to the island of Nantucket, which is surrounded with shoals to a distance of nearly forty miles, the name of the cape of Shoals, by which it continued to be designated throughout the whole of the sixteenth century.⁷

Gomez sailed for Corunna, which he reached in safety some ten months after leaving Spain, that is to say in June, 1525.¹ As the caraval entered the harbour a sailor called out that they had slaves, in Spanish, esclavos. A bystander understood him to say claros (spices), and posting to court informed the emperor that Gomez had brought home spices. This announcement gave great pleasure until the truth became known, when the emperor was much displeased.² Oviedo saw Gomez's Indians at Toledo. 'They are great archers,' he wrote, 'and go covered with the skinnes of dyvers beasts both wyld and tame. In their lande are many excellent furies as martens, sables and such other ryche furies, of the which the sayde pilote Gomes brought summe with him into Spayne.'³

Two years later our Atlantic seaboard was again explored by a vessel sent out from England. In 1521 Henry VIII. had tried to induce the Livery Companies of London to aid him in fitting out five ships 'for a viage to be made into the newefound land'⁴; and although he 'spak sharply to the maire to see it putt in execucion to the best of his power,' his efforts were not crowned with success until the year 1527. In the spring of that year two vessels, the Samson and the Mary Guildford, were fitted out at London to seek for a passage to the east by way of Davis strait. Leaving London on 10 May, they finally set sail from Plymouth on 10 June. Three weeks later, on 1 July, in latitude 53°, the vessels during a bad storm became separated, and the Samson must have foundered, for she was never heard of more.⁵

The Mary Guildford weathered the storm, but two days later fell in with the icebergs brought down Davis strait by a current from the polar seas. 'Then,' wrote the captain to King Henry VIII., 'we durst not goe no further to the Northward for feare of more Ice, and we east about to the southward, and within foure dayes after we had one hundred and sixtie fathom, and then we came into 52 degrees and fell in with the mayne Land' of Labrador. Following this coast to the southward, they entered an opening on 21 July, which was probably our Alexis river. Here they found 'a good harbour, and many small Ilands, and a great fresh River going up farre into the Mayne Land.' The latter was 'all wilderness and mountaines and woods, and no naturall ground but all mosse and no inhabitation nor no people.' In the woods they discovered 'footing of divers great beastes, but saw none, not in ten leagues.' In this harbour they spent ten days refitting, fishing, and taking on board wood and fresh water.

Setting sail again at the end of July, they 'on the third of August entered into a good Haven, called St. John, where we found eleven saile of Normans and one Brittain and two Portugal Barkes, and all a fishing.' Obtaining no news of the fate of the Samson, the Mary Guildford proceeded southward in the vain hope of meeting her consort.¹ In the course of her voyage along our Atlantic seaboard, her pilot, an Italian, who may have been Verrazano, was killed in a skirmish with the Indians.²

It would appear that about the middle of November this ship reached Porto Rico, in the West Indies, having made her way hither from Newfoundland. From the captain of a Spanish caraval that was loading cassava at the island of Mona, which lies half-way between Porto Rico and St. Domingo, information was obtained of the condition of San Domingo.

III., 267.

Setting sail from Mona on Thursday, 21 November, the Mary Guildford arrived off San Domingo on Monday afternoon, 25 November. A boat was at once sent on shore to ask for permission to enter the harbour and obtain fresh provisions. The authorities acceded to this request, and sent two pilots to bring the vessel into the river Ozama, the only harbour of which the town could boast. On Tuesday, 26 November, the Mary Guildford sailed to the mouth of the river, but was prevented by a north wind from entering the harbour. No sooner had she cast anchor than a shot was fired at her from the fort. Surprised at this reception, she at once put to sea,¹ but we do not know when she reached England.²

From 1527 until Cartier's exploration of the gulf of St. Lawrence in 1534, fishing-vesels continued each summer to make annual fishing voyages to our coasts,³ but no record has come down to us of any fresh exploration of our shores or of any attempt to seek in those latitudes a passage to the East. Jacques Cartier was the explorer who next attempted to find such a passage, and although he was unsuccessful, his exploration resulted in the discovery of the gulf and river St. Lawrence and of the vast extent of territory stretching from the strait of Belle-Isle to the rapids of Lachine.

IIA.

Privilege of citizenship, internal and external, after fifteen years' residence. Aloysio Fontana, formerly of Bergamo.

Niccolò Trono, by the grace of God, Doge of Venice, etc. To all and singular our friends and lieges, present and future, who shall see the present privilege, greeting and proof of sincere friendship:

By these presents we desire to make known to you that among the other thoughts which fill our mind, we aim principally to procure what is especially advantageous and useful in a wholesome way to our subjects and devoted lieges. As this is one of the duties of our august office, and as our acts strengthen our subjects in their faithful and devoted attachment towards us, we, wishing to reward merit according to its deserts, have thought good to decree:

That since whoever has resided in Venice continuously for fifteen years or more, and during that period has fulfilled the duties and borne the charges of our government, is to be henceforward a citizen and one of our Venetians, and is to enjoy forever and everywhere the rights, liberties and immunities exercised and enjoyed by the other Venetians, our citizens: wherefore as the prudent man, Aloysio Fontana, formerly of Bergamo, now a resident in St. Julian street, Venice, has notified us by proper and clear proofs which have been carefully verified by the magistrates of our municipality, that he has inhabited Venice continuously during fifteen years, conducting himself towards us and our duchy faithfully and worthily, with wholehearted devotion, and submitting regularly to the duties and charges of our government, things worthy of reward, we have received and receive the said Aloysio Fontana, the proper formality having been observed, as a Venetian and our citizen within and without, and have created and create him a Venetian and our citizen within and without, and desire him to be and act and be held and treated as a Venetian and our citizen in Venice and without, everywhere, in such a manner that the said Aloysio may for the rest freely enjoy and make use of all the liberties, rights and immunities that the other Venetians, our citizens, have and enjoy within and without, it being understood that he cannot himself trade or carry on trade through others by sea or in the German warehouse or with Germans, unless he has given security for this to our government within the year. In witness and more complete evidence whereof we have caused the present privilege to be drawn up, and our leaden seal to be affixed thereto. Given in our ducal Palace on 11 August in the year of our Lord's incarnation 1472, Indiction V.

A similar privilege was granted to the prudent man, Giovanni, the son of Giacomo, formerly of Pesaro, now an inhabitant of Venice, in the time of the Most Serene Liege Lord Nicolas Marcello, Illustrious Doge of Venice, etc., under a leaden seal on 23 October, 1473, Indiction VII.

A similar privilege was granted to the prudent man, Martino Figinis, formerly of Milan, inhabitant of Venice in the time of the Most Serene Liege Lord Nicolas Marcello, on 4 July, 1474, Indiction VII.

A similar privilege was granted to the prudent man, Antonio, son of Gulielmo, boilermaker of Colombi, formerly of Balabio, a district of Milan, inhabitant of Venice in the time of the Most Serene Liege Lord Pietro Mocenigo, under a leaden bull, on 5 May, 1475, Indiction VIII.

A similar privilege was granted to the prudent man, Giovanni, son of Bartholomeo of Brescia, inhabitant of Venice in the time of the Most Serene Liege Lord Nicolas Marcello, on 17 May, 1474, Indiction VII.

A similar privilege was granted to the honest and prudent man, Giovanni Pietro de Turco, formerly of Novara, inhabitant of Venice in the time of the Most Serene Liege Lord Giovanni Mocenigo, 22 August, 1480.

A similar privilege was granted to Bartholomeo, son of Antonio Casarolo, on 18 August, 1481.

A similar privilege was granted to Bernardo, son of Bartholomeo of Bergamo, on 28 September, 1484.

A similar privilege was granted to Zacharia de Panti, of Lodi, on 28 September, 1484.

A similar privilege was granted to Benedetto, son of Lancelloto Fontana, on 28 September, 1484.

A similar privilege was granted to the brothers Giovanni, Sebastiano and Stephano, on 28 September, 1484.

A similar privilege was granted to Rafaele, son of the late Antonio of Ardiccione, on 12 February, 1484.

A similar privilege was granted, with a golden seal, to M. Stefano, son of Nicolas, the goldsmith, on 26 February, 1484.

A similar privilege was granted to John Cabot under the Doge above mentioned [Pietro Mocenigo], 1476.

A similar privilege was granted to Domenico Giovanni de la Cizio on 18 January, 1498, etc.

For John Cabot and his Sons.

The King, to all to whom, etc. Greeting: Be it known and made manifest that we have given and granted as by these

... In regard to what you say of the arrival there of one like Columbus for the purpose of inducing the king of England¹ to enter upon another undertaking like that of the Indies, without prejudice to Spain or to Portugal, if he [the king] aids him as he has us, the Indies will be well rid of the man. We are of opinion that this is a scheme of the French king's to persuade the king of England to undertake this so that he will give up other affairs. Take care that you prevent the king of England from being deceived in this or in anything else of the kind, since wherever they can, the French will endeavour to bring this about. And things of this sort are very uncertain, and of such a nature that for the present it is not seemly to conclude an agreement therein; and it is also clear that no arrangement can be concluded in this matter in that country [England] without harm to us or to the king of Portugal.....

Copy of a Paragraph in a Letter ser Lorenzo Pasqualigo [son of] the late ser Philip wrote from London on 23 August to ser Alvise and Francesco Pasqualigo, his brothers, in Venice. Received on 23 September, 1497.

That Venetian of ours who went with a small ship from Bristol to find new islands has come back and says he has discovered mainland 700 leagues away, which is the country of the Grand Khan, and that he coasted it for 300 leagues and landed and did not see any person; but he has brought here to the king¹ certain snares which were spread to take game and a needle for making nets, and he found certain notched [or felled] trees so that by this he judges that there are inhabitants. Being in doubt he returned to his ship; and he has been three months on the voyage; and this is certain. And on the way back he saw two islands, but was unwilling to land, in order not to lose time, as he was in want of provisions. The king here is much pleased at this; and he [Cabot] says that the tides are slack and do not run as they do here. The king has promised him for the spring ten armed ships as he [Cabot] desires, and has given him all the prisoners to be sent away, that they may go with him, as he has requested; and has given him money that he may have a good time until then, and he is with his Venetian wife and his sons at Bristol. His name is Zuam Talbot and he is called the Great Admiral and vast honour is paid to him and he goes dressed in silk, and these English run after him like mad, and indeed he can enlist as many of them as he pleases, and a number of our rogues as well. The discoverer of these things planted on the land which he has found a large cross with a banner of England and one of St. Mark, as he is a Venetian, so that our flag has been hoisted very far afield.

SECOND DISPATCH OF RAIMONDO DI SONCINO TO THE DUKE OF MILAN.

Illustrissimo et Excellentissimo Segnor mio.

Forsi che tra tante occupatione de Vostra Excellentia, non li sara molesto intendere como questa Maiestà ha guadagnato una parte de Asia senza colpo de spada. In questo regno è uno popolare venetiano chiamato messer Zoanne Caboto, de gentile ingenio, peritissimo de la navigatione, el quale, visto che li serenissimi Re, prima de Portugallo, poi de Spagna, hanno occupato isole incognite, delibero fare uno simile acquisto per ditta Maiestà, et impetrato privilegii regii, che l'utile dominio de quanto el trovasse fussi suo, per che lo diretto se reserva a la corona, cum uno piccolo navilio et XVIII persone se pose a la fortuna, et partitosi da Bristo, porto occidentale de questo regno, et passato Ibernia, piu occidentale, et poi alzatosi verso el septentrione, comencio ad navigare a le parte orientale, lassandosi (fra qualche giorni) la tramontana ad mano drita, et havendo asai errato in fine capito a terra ferma, dove posto la bandera regia et tolto la possessione per questa Alteza, et preso certi segnali, se ne retornato. Al ditto messer Zoanne, como alienigena et povero, non saria creduto, se li compagni chi sono quasi tutti inglesi, et da Bristo, non testificasserro cio che lui dice essere vero. Esso, messer Zoanne ha la descriptione del mundo in una carta et anche in una sphaera solida che lui ha fatto, et demonstra dove è capitato, et andando verso el levante ha passato asai el paese del Tanais. Et dicono che la è terra optima et temperata, et estimanno che vi nasca el brasillio et le sete, et affirmanno che quello mare è coperto de pessi, li quali se prendenno non solo cum la rete ma cum le ciste, essendoli alligato uno saxo ad cio che la cista se impozi in l'aqua, et questo io l'ho oldito narrare al ditto messer Zoanne. Et ditti inglesi suoi compagni dicono che portaranno tanti pessi che questo regno non haverà più bisogno de Islanda, del quale paese vene una grandissima mercantia de pessi che si chiamano stochfissi. Ma messer Zoanne ha posto l'animo ad maggior cosa, per che pensa da quello loco occupato andarsene sempre a riva riva più verso el levante, tanto ch'el sia al opposto de un isola da lui chiamata Cipango, posta in la regione equinoctiale, dove crede che nascano tutte le speciarie del mundo et anche le gioie; et dice che altre volte esso è stato a la Meccha, dove per caravane de luntani paesi sono portate le speciarie, et domandati quelli chi le portano, dove nascono ditte speciarie, rispondenno che non sanno, ma che venghono cum questa mercantia da luntani paesi ad casa sua altre caravane, le quale ancora dicono che ad loro sono portate da altre remote regioni. Et fa questo argomento, che se li orientali affermano a li meridionali che queste cose venghono lontano da loro, et così de mano in mano, presupposta la rotundità de la terra, è necessario che li ultimi le tolliano al septentrione verso l'occidente. Et dicello per modo che non me costando più como costa, ancora io lo credo. Et che è maggior cosa, questa Maiestà che è savia et non prodiga, ancora lei li presta qualche fede, per che dopio ch'el è tornat^o, li dà assai bona provisione, come esso messer Zoanne me dice. Et a tempo novo se dice che la Maiestà prefata armara alcuni navilii, et ultra li dà tutti li malfatori, et andarano in quello paese ad fare una colonia, mediante la quale sperano de fare in Londres maggior fondaco de speciarie che non sia in Alexandria. Et li principali de la impresa sono de Bristo, grandi marinari, li quali hora che sanno dove andare, dicono che la non è navigatione de più che xv giorni, ne hanno mai fortuna como albandonano Ibernia. Ho ancora parlato cum uno Borgognone, compagno de messer Zoanne, chi afferma tutto, et vole tornarci, per che lo Armirante (che già messer Zoanne così se intitula) li ha donato una isola, et ne ha donato una altra ad uno suo barbero da Castione Genovese, et intrambi se reputano conti, ne monsignor l'armirante se estima manco de principe. Credo ancora andarano cum questo passaggio alcuni poveri frati italiani, li quali tutti hanno promissione de vescovati. Et per essere io fatto amico de l'armirante, quando volessi andarvi, haverei uno Archivescovato, ma ho pensato ch'el sia più sicura cosa li beneficii quali Vostra Excellentia me ha reservati, et perho supplico che quando vacasserro in mia absentia, la me faccia dare la possessione, ordenando fra questo meglio dove bisogna, che non me siano tolti da altri, li quali per essere presenti possonno essere piu diligenti di me¹, el quale sono ridotto in questo paese ad mangiare ogni pasto de x o xii vivande, et stare tre hore ad tavola per volta, ogni giorno due volte, per amore de Vostra Excellentia. A la quale humilmente me recomando.

Excellentie Vestre
humillissimus servus,

My most Illustrious and most Excellent Lord.

Perhaps amidst so many occupations of your Excellency it will not be unwelcome to learn how his majesty here³ has acquired a portion of Asia without a stroke of his sword. In this kingdom there is a lower class Venetian named Master Zoaane Caboto, of a fine mind, very expert in navigation, who, seeing that the most serene kings, first of Portugal, then of Spain have occupied unknown islands, meditated the achievement of a similar acquisition for his majesty aforesaid, and having obtained royal grants securing to himself the profitable control of whatever he should discover, since the sovereignty was reserved to the crown, with a small ship and eighteen persons he committed himself to fortune and set out from Bristol, a western port of this kingdom, and having passed Ireland, which is still further to the west and then shaped a northerly course, he began to navigate to the eastern parts, leaving (during several days) the North star to the right; and having wandered about considerably, at length he fell in with terra firma, where he set up the royal standard, and having taken possession for this king and collected several tokens, he came back again. The said Master Zoanne, being a foreigner and a poor man, would not be believed if the crew, who are nearly all English and from Bristol, did not testify that what he says is true. This Master Zoanne has a drawing of the world on a map and also on a solid globe, which he has made, and shows the point he reached, and going towards the east, he has passed considerably the country of the Tanais.¹ And they say that the land is excellent and [the air] temperate, and they think that Brazil wood and silks grow there; and they affirm that the sea is covered with fish which are caught not merely with nets but with baskets, a stone being attached to make the basket sink in the water, and this I heard the said Master Zoanne relate. And said Englishmen, his companions, say that they will fetch so many fish that this kingdom will have no more need of Iceland, from which country there comes a very great store of fish which are called stock-fish. But Master Zoanne has set his mind on something greater; for he expects to go from that place already occupied, constantly hugging the shore, further towards the east until he is opposite an island called by him Cipango, situated in the equinoctial region, where he thinks grow all the spices of the world and also the precious stones; and he says that once upon a time he was at Mecca, whither the spices are brought by caravan from distant countries, and those who brought them, on being asked where the said spices grow, answered that they did not know, but that other caravans come with this merchandise to their homes from distant countries, who again say that they are brought to them from other remote regions. And he argues thus, that if the orientals affirm to the southerners, that these things come from a distance, and so from hand to hand, presupposing the rotundity of the earth, it must be that the last people gets them in the north towards the west. And he speaks of it in such a way that not costing me more than it does, I too believe him. And what is more, his majesty here, who is wise and not lavish, likewise puts some faith in him; for since his return he makes him a very fair allowance, as this Master Zoanne himself tells me. And it is said that in the spring his majesty aforesaid will fit out some ships, and besides will give him all the malefactors, and they will proceed to that country to form a colony, by means of which they hope to establish a greater dépôt for spices in London than there is at Alexandria. And the chief men in the enterprise belong to Bristol, great sailors, who now that they know where to go, say that it is not more than a fifteen days' voyage thither, nor do they ever have storms after they leave Ireland. I have also talked with a Burgundian, a companion of Master Zoanne's, who confirms everything and wishes to return there because the Admiral (for thus Master Zoanne now styles himself) has given him an island; and he has given another to a barber of his from Genoese Castiglione¹, and both of them consider themselves counts, nor does my Lord the Admiral esteem himself less than a prince. I think that on this voyage will also go some poor Italian monks who all have promises of bishoprics. And having become a friend of the Admiral's, if I wish to go I should have an archbishopric, but I have thought the benefices which your Excellency has reserved for me a safer thing, and I beg indeed that should any become vacant in my absence, Your Excellency will see that possession is given to me, making the necessary arrangements in the meanwhile that they be not taken from me by others, who being on the spot, are able to be much more diligent than I, who am reduced in this country to eating at every meal ten or twelve courses and to remaining three hours at table each time, twice a day, for love of Your Excellency, to whom I humbly recommend myself.

Your Excellency's most humble servant,

RAIMUNDUS.

...I think Your Highnesses have already heard how the king of England¹ has equipped a fleet to explore certain islands or mainland which he has been assured certain persons who set out last year from Bristol in search of the same have discovered. I have seen the map made by the discoverer, who is another Genoese like Columbus, who has been in Seville and at Lisbon seeking to obtain persons to aid him in this discovery. For the last seven years the people of Bristol have equipped two, three [and] four caravels to go in search of the island of Brazil and the Seven Cities according to the fancy of this Genoese. The king made up his mind to send thither, because last year sure proof was brought him they had found land. The fleet he prepared, which consisted of five vessels, was provisioned for a year. News has come that one of these, in which sailed another Friar Buil¹, has made land in Ireland in a great storm with the ship badly damaged. The Genoese kept on his way. Having seen the course they are steering and the length of the voyage, I find that what they have discovered or are in search of is possessed by Your Highnesses because it is at the cape which fell to Your Highnesses by the convention with Portugal². It is hoped they will be back by September. I let (? will let) Your Highnesses know about it. The king has spoken to me several times on the subject. He hopes the affair may turn out profitable. I believe the distance is not 400 leagues. I told him that I believed the islands were those found by Your Highnesses, and although I gave him the main reason, he would not have it. Since I believe Your Highnesses will already have notice of all

GRANT TO GASPAR CORTE REAL OF ANY ISLAND, ISLANDS OR MAIN-LAND HE MAY DISCOVER OR FIND.

King Emmanuel, etc. . To as many as shall see this grant of ours we make known, that forasmuch as Gaspar Corte Real, a nobleman of our court, has made efforts in the past, on his own account and at his own expense, with ships and men, to search out, discover and find by dint of much labour and expenditure of his wealth and at the risk of his life, some islands and a mainland, and in consequence is now desirous of continuing this search and of setting to work and doing whatever is possible in order to discover the said islands and mainland; and we taking into consideration how greatly it will redound to our service and honour, and to the increase of our kingdoms and domains, if such islands and mainlands should be discovered and found by subjects of ours, and since the said Gaspar Corte Real in virtue of his desire to carry this out, at such risk and the expenditure of so much labour, is worthy of all honour, favour and augmentation; for this cause it is our pleasure, and we are pleased of our own motion, royal and absolute power, should he discover and find any island or islands, or mainland, to grant and give him, and we do grant him by right and hereditv for ever, the governorship of any islands or mainland he may thus discover or find afresh with the following privileges, to wit: civil and criminal jurisdiction, both high and low, with full power and authority, without appeal or redress from him or from his heirs and successors in any matter or sum of money, whether for us or for any person holding power of us; and it is our wish that he and his heirs, both in our name and in that of our successors hold, govern and rule the mainland or islands so found, freely and without any hindrance whatsoever, in the manner above mentioned, agreeing only in regard to ourselves, that whenever it may seem to us necessary, we may send thither one of our people to learn how the said Gaspar Corte Real is exercising the said jurisdiction and government of the mainland, and to bring us information thereof, in order that, should we find he does not rule or govern the said islands and mainland as is fitting to God's service and our own, we may punish him as we think proper, in his person alone, without taking from him or relieving him of the said jurisdiction. Nevertheless should he not conduct himself properly, and should we order him to appear before us to receive in his person the punishment he deserves, as has been said, he may and shall leave in the said islands and each of them, or on the mainland, one of his people to exercise and advance and carry on the administration of justice and government in his name and as he himself would if present, such person nevertheless being one agreeable to ourselves. And furthermore we desire and it is our pleasure, on account of the said right and title, that of all revenues we shall receive or order to be raised there both in our time and in that of our successors, as well as by register, should it please God we or they draw up such, as in any other manner in which they, by virtue of any title or quality whatsoever shall decree, order or have our revenues and rights collected in these lands and islands, the said Gaspar Corte Real and his heirs receive freely the fourth part of all we may thus be able to collect at any time in the said islands and mainland; and should on the said islands or on each of them or on the mainland about to be discovered, any barter or trade be opened or found, of such a nature that we either directly or through our officers should desire to trade and barter there, in this case we shall order to be paid and given to the said Gaspar Corte Real and to all his successors the fourth part of what is gained in this trade and barter, after payment of the principal and of the charges to which we have been put in this trade and barter; and this will hold good and be carried out in case we should farm the said trade and barter or should give our licence and authority for them to be carried on by others; and in case the said trade and barter be of a nature that all and any persons as well of the said islands and mainland as of our kingdom and dominions may enjoy them and may trade and barter like ourselves, then we shall not remain under any obligation to pay the said fourth part, but shall only give him the same fee that the others are obliged to give and pay for our said trade and barter, which will be appointed and ordered to him, etc. Furthermore it is our pleasure and we desire that he and his heirs have the privilege of mills, salt, ovens, machines and mill-races and all that the governors of our other islands now have and enjoy by grants from us, with the office and power of governor of a fort and the rights thereto pertaining, and with all the other honours, privileges and powers that are granted to him by us; and in witness of all we order this grant and charter of ours, signed and sealed with our hanging seal, to be given to him, by which we desire and it is our royal pleasure by virtue of all our royal and absolute power, that the said Gaspar Corte Real should thus hold the governorship of the said islands and mainland with all the said civil and criminal jurisdictions, powers, revenues, rights and exemptions set forth in these letters, for him and for all his heirs and successors in direct male line. And should he have there no son, to whom he could leave all this, it is our wish that he leave it to his eldest daughter; and should he have there no son or daughter, he may leave it to his nearest male or female relative, according as is set forth above, and thus it be observed and carried out in this succession thenceforward for ever, notwithstanding any mental law or capital law of the Cortes, or statute made or to be made that could in any way run counter to anything set forth in this grant of ours, which we commend to our successors, for the sake of our benediction, to be fulfilled and carried out according to the tenour thereof. Given in our town of Cintra, 12 May. Alvaro Fernandez made this in the year of the Incarnation of our Lord Jesus Christ 1500. Let there be no doubt about any erasure in this grant for verily I the notary drew it up.

TERCEIRA.

King Emmanuel, etc. To all our governors, chief magistrates, judges and law officers in our kingdoms and dominions, and to any other officials and persons whatsoever to whom the cognisance of this in any way appertains, and these letters of ours may be shown, or the copy thereof given in public form by judicial authority may be presented, Greeting:

Know that in consideration of the many services we have received from Gaspar Corte Real, a nobleman of our court, in the discovery of the land foretold, and of that which we hope in future to receive, on which account he and those who shall aid him and spend their wealth in the said discovery are worthy of every favour and increase, we are pleased and it is our pleasure to receive as our vassal John Martins, Esquire, servant to John Vaz Corte Real, his [Gaspar's] father, and judge of the orphans in the town of Angra on the island of Terceira, whom henceforth we desire to be exempt, freed and relieved from the payment or service of any tributes, imposts, taxes, impositions, services, loans or any other charges imposed in any way whatsoever by the council or village where he may dwell, nor shall they constrain him or his masters and husbandmen to go as prisoners, nor with money, nor with any kind of imposts, nor to be guardians or trustees of any one whatever, except such guardianships be legitimate, nor to hold office as counsellors against their will. Furthermore we decree and order that no one, of whatsoever estate and condition, be so bold as to lodge in their dwelling-houses, cellars or stables, nor shall they take their bread, wine, clothes, straw, barley, wood, hens, cattle, or saddle-horses, nor their pack-saddle beasts, oxen, waggons, carts, ships, barques or boats, nor anything else of theirs against their will. And furthermore we order that you fulfill and carry out and cause to be fulfilled and carried out in its entirety this grant of ours according to the tenour thereof, any law of the Cortes or decree to the contrary notwithstanding, on pain of a fine of 6,000 cts. which we order to be paid to us by any one disobeying it, and this sum is to be received for us by our tax-receiver in each village of that circumscription from him or them who disobey this grant of ours in whole or in part. And we order the clerk of the receiver's office to debit these moneys to the said receiver, to the end that we may have a correct receipt from him, on pain of the same being paid by both of them out of their own goods. And furthermore whenever henceforth such islands, countries, lands and provinces shall be acquired, recovered and found by the aforesaid Richard and the others before-named, then we will and by these presents grant, that all and singular as well men as women of this our kingdom and the rest of our subjects, wishing and desiring to visit these lands and islands thus newly found, and to inhabit the same, shall be allowed and have power to go freely and in safety to the same countries, islands and places with their ships, men and servants, and all their goods and chattels, and to dwell in and inhabit the same under the protection and government of the said Richard and of the others aforesaid, and to acquire and keep the riches, fruits and profits of the lands, countries and places aforesaid; giving furthermore and granting to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas and John, John, Francis and John, and to any one of them, by the tenour of these presents, full power and authority to rule and govern all and singular the men, sailors and other persons removing and making their way for the aforesaid purpose to the islands, countries, provinces, mainlands and places before-mentioned, as well in the company of the said Richard and of the others aforesaid, as in the company of people happening afterwards to betake themselves there, both on the sea as well as in these islands, countries, mainlands and places after they have been found and recovered, and to make, set up, ordain and appoint laws, ordinances, statutes and proclamations for the good and peaceful rule and government of the said men, masters, sailors and other persons aforesaid, and also to issue proclamations to chastise and punish according to the laws and statutes set up by them in that region all and singular those whom they may find there hostile and rebellious and disobedient to the laws, statutes and ordinances aforesaid, and all who shall commit and perpetrate theft, homicide or robberies or who shall rape and violate against their will or otherwise any women of the islands or countries aforesaid. And furthermore we have granted to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John, their heirs and assigns, that when any islands, countries, mainlands, region or province shall henceforth be discovered by the same Richard and the others aforesaid, then it shall not be lawful for any subject or subjects [of ours], during the term of ten years next and immediately following, to visit with their ships or to make their way to the same towns, countries, islands, mainlands and places, for the purpose of trading and obtaining goods, without the licence and permission of the said Richard and of the others aforesaid, their heirs and assigns, or to enter the same, or to send into the same to obtain any goods; and that after the term of the said ten years, none of our subjects shall presume to sail to or visit any mainland, island, country or place thus newly found by the said Richard and Thomas and the others aforesaid without our licence and that of the said Richard and of the others aforesaid, on pain of the loss and forfeiture of all the goods, merchandise, commodities and vessels whatsoever daring to sail to these places thus newly discovered and to enter the same, namely, one-half of the same to be for our use, and the other half for the use of the said Richard and of the others aforesaid and of their heirs.

And furthermore of our abundant grace we have granted and by these presents grant for us and our heirs, as far as in us lies, to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John and any one of them, their heirs and assigns, that they and any one of them shall have power and permission to bring and transport and cause to be brought or transported merchandise and wares, gold and silver in bar, precious stones, and other goods whatsoever grown in the countries, islands and places aforesaid by them thus to be recovered and found, as well in the said ships and vessels as in other strange ships whatsoever, from the said countries, islands, mainlands and places into this our realm of England, to any port whatsoever or other place in the same, and to sell and distribute these for their own profit and advantage, any statute, act, ordinance, restriction or order made to the contrary notwithstanding.

And we, bearing in mind most especially the heavy costs and charges which are required for the performance and execution of the above, wishing therefore to do special favour in like manner to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas and the other persons mentioned, have granted and by these presents grant to the same, their heirs and assigns, that they and any one of them, their heirs and assigns aforesaid, may from time to time during the term of four years from the date of the recovery and discovery of the islands and countries aforesaid next and immediately following, land in the port or place aforesaid the merchandise and wares and other goods, loaded and carried on one vessel, of so great tonnage whatsoever she be, and which are to be brought and transported into this our realm of England, and may sell, expose and distribute these at their pleasure from time to time after any voyage during the term of the said four years, without in any way paying to us or to our heirs within our said realm of England, any customs, subsidies or other dues on the same goods, merchandise and other things aforesaid contained and carried in the said one vessel only. Provided nevertheless that with regard to the customs, subsidies, pondages and other dues to be paid on the rest of the merchandise, wares and goods on board all the other vessels, true answers, as is right, be given to us, according to the practice hitherto prevailing in this our realm of England. And furthermore we will and grant by these presents that any chief master, mate and sailor of any ship whatsoever visiting and sailing to any mainland, island, country, province and place aforesaid, may have, enjoy and receive of the goods and wares to be brought from the said islands, mainlands and countries into this our realm of England, the following customs and subsidies, namely: that any master may have, enjoy and receive on any voyage the customs and subsidies of four tons, and any mate or quartermaster the customs and subsidies of two tons, and any sailor the customs and subsidies of one ton, even though they be loaded and carried as his own goods or as the goods of any other person whatsoever; and this without any customs, subsidies, dues or duties being in any way paid or asked for the same tonnage within this our realm of England for our needs or those of our heirs.

And should it happen that any merchant or merchants of this our realm arrive at the said islands, countries and places by licence of our said subjects or without their licence, for the purpose of obtaining merchandise and wares, and should carry on business and bring goods and wares from those parts into this our kingdom, then we will and grant by these presents to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John, their heirs and assigns, that they, during the aforesaid term of ten years, may receive from any such merchant, the customs, subsidies and other dues having been paid that it is customary to remit to us in such case, the twentieth part of all such goods and merchandise brought and transported by the same from the said islands, countries and places into this our realm of England on any voyage during the said term of ten years, this twentieth part to be had and taken in the port in which it shall happen that the said goods are unloaded and discharged. Provided always that during the said term of ten years the aforesaid Richard and the others aforesaid, their heirs and assigns, and not any other persons, be the factors and attorneys in the said islands, mainlands and countries in behalf of any such merchants and other persons repairing there for the aforesaid cause in and for the trade carried on there for them. Provided also that no vessel charged and loaded with goods and merchandise from the said regions thus newly found, after she has been brought into any port of this our realm, be discharged of the said goods and merchandise except in the presence of the aforesaid Richard and of the others aforesaid, or of their heirs or deputies to be assigned for this purpose, on pain of the forfeiture of the said goods and merchandise, whereof one half shall be applied to our needs and the other half be given to the aforesaid Richard and to the others before-named and to their heirs. And if afterwards any strangers or other persons should presume against the wish of the said Richard and of the others before-named to sail to these said regions for the purpose of enriching themselves, and to enter the same by violence, and there to insult the said Richard and the others aforesaid or their heirs, and to conquer and expel them, or otherwise to disturb them, then we will and by the tenour of these presents give and grant power to the same subjects of ours, to expel and resist with all their force, as well by land as by sea and fresh water, these strangers, even though they be subjects and vassals of some prince in league and friendship with us, and to wage and carry on war against them, and to arrest, bind and place them in prison, there to remain until they shall have made fine and redemption to our said subjects; or otherwise to chastise and punish them according to the sober discretion of our said subjects and of their heirs.

And also by the tenour of these presents we give and grant full power to our aforesaid subjects, and to the other persons aforesaid, to make, constitute, nominate and appoint under them by their letters patent to be sealed with their seals, any captains, lieutenants and deputies whatsoever in each of the states, cities, towns and places aforesaid for the administration and government of all and singular the persons in those parts, under the rule and authority of our said subjects there dwelling, and for the due execution and administration of justice in the same, according to the tenour and import of the ordinances, statutes and proclamations aforesaid. And furthermore we have granted and by these presents grant to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John for the term of their lives and of the life of any one of them, the office of Admiral at sea in any of the places, countries and provinces whatsoever by them thus newly discovered and henceforth to be found and recovered; and we make, constitute, ordain and appoint by these presents the said Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John and any one of them whomsoever, conjointly and separately, our Admirals in the same parts, giving and granting to them and to any one of them whomsoever, by the tenour of these presents, full power and authority to do, exercise and carry out all and singular the things which pertain to the office of Admiral, according to the law and the naval custom obtaining in this our realm of England.

And further after the aforesaid Richard Warde, Thomas Ashehurst and John Thomas and John Fernandez, Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales shall have thus found, acquired and subdued with our assistance, any mainlands, islands, countries and provinces, cities, castles, states and towns, then we will and by these presents grant to them, their heirs and assigns, that they and their heirs may have, hold and possess for themselves, their heirs and assigns all and singular, such and so great mainlands, islands, countries, provinces, castles, cities, fortresses, states, and towns as and as great as they and their agents, lieutenants and servants are able to inhabit, take possession of, hold and maintain; the same lands, islands and places aforesaid to be had and held by them, their heirs and assigns, and by any one of them whomsoever, of us and of our heirs in perpetuity by fidelity alone, without any composition or anything else being rendered or made to us or to our heirs for the same, always excepting the dignity, dominion, regality, jurisdiction and suzerainty of the same, wholly reserved to us. And furthermore we have granted to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John, that when the said mainlands, islands and countries thus made over to them and to their heirs aforesaid, as set forth above, have been discovered and recovered, and when they are in full possession of the same, they, their heirs and assigns may hold, possess and enjoy the same freely, quietly and peaceably, without impediment of any sort from us or from any of our heirs whomsoever. And that none of our subjects shall in any way expel them or any one of them from and out of their possession and title to and in the said mainlands, islands and countries in any wise against their will. Promising in good faith and on the word of a king that we shall hold ratified, acceptable and stable all and whatsoever the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John, and any of them whosoever, by way of completing the premises, shall do or shall procure to be done herein. And that neither we nor our heirs ever nor at any time in the future shall disturb, hinder or molest them or any one of them or their heirs and assigns in their right, title and possession, nor shall we permit nor cause this to be done or brought about, nor shall we cause it to be done by others our subjects, or others whomsoever, so far as in us lies; nor shall we in any way remove them, their heirs and assigns from the said mainlands, countries, provinces and places for any cause afterwards arising or happening, nor shall we cause them to be removed or expelled by our subjects.

And further of our greater special goodness and very own motion we have granted and by these presents grant for us and our heirs, as far as in us lies, to John Fernandez, Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales, Esquires, of the Islands of the Azores, born subjects of the king of Portugal, and to any one of them whomsoever, that they and any one of them and all their children, as well born as to be born, are for ever subjects and lieges of us and of our heirs, and in all lawsuits, quarrels, affairs and matters whatsoever are to be considered, treated, held, esteemed and governed as our true and faithful lieges born within our realm of England, and not otherwise nor in any other way. And that they and all their children aforesaid, and any one of them whomsoever, may carry on and bring real, personal and mixed actions in all courts, places and jurisdictions of ours whatsoever in all ways, and may use and benefit by these, and may sue and be sued in the same, answer and be answered to, defend them and be defended in all things and everywhere as our true and faithful lieges born within our realm aforesaid. And that they, and any one of them whosoever, may examine, take, receive, own, hold, possess and inherit for himself, his heirs and assigns, in perpetuity or in any other way whatsoever, lands, tenements, rents, reversions, services and other possessions whatsoever, as well in full ownership as in reversion, within our said realm of England and the other dominions and places under our obedience, and these give away, sell, alienate and bequeath to any person or persons whomsoever, as it may please them, freely, quietly, lawfully and safely, and any one of them may so do at his pleasure, as freely, fully and peaceably as any liege of ours born within our realm of England is able and has power to do. In such a way nevertheless that the aforesaid John and Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales, and all their children aforesaid, pay or cause to be paid, and each of them pays or causes to be paid, such customs, taxes and other dues for their goods, wares, merchandise and commodities which are to be brought into our realm of England or taken out of the same, as foreigners pay to us, or ought, or are accustomed to pay. And that the same John and Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales, and all their children aforesaid, from henceforward under colour or in virtue of any statute, ordinance or grant made or to be made in our parliament or out of our parliament, be not forced, held nor compelled nor any one of them be forced, held or compelled to pay, give, render or bring to us or to any of our heirs, or to any one else whomsoever, any taxes, tallages or other dues whatsoever for their lands, tenements, goods or persons, except such and so much as our other faithful lieges, born within our said realm pay, give, render or bring, or are accustomed and held to pay, give, render or bring generally for their goods, lands, tenements or persons; but that the aforesaid John and Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales, and all their children aforesaid, and any one of them, may and can have and possess all things and all other liberties, privileges, franchises and customs, and may use and enjoy them, and any one of them may so do, within our said realm of England, our jurisdictions and dominions whatsoever, as freely, quietly, fully and peaceably as the rest of our lieges, born within our said realm generally hold, use and enjoy them, or ought and should hold, possess, use and enjoy them; any statute, act, ordinance, or any other cause, affair or matter whatsoever notwithstanding. Provided always that the aforesaid John and Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales, and each of them does liege homage to us, and that they and each one of them aids with lot and scot and with the other dues payable and customary everywhere in our aforesaid realm, as our lieges do who are born within our said kingdom. Provided also that the said John and Francis Fernandez and John Gonzales pay, and each of them pays to us and to our heirs so many and such customs, subsidies and other dues for their goods and merchandise as foreigners are held to pay and give to us.

And further of our greater goodness we have granted to the aforesaid Richard, Thomas, John, John, Francis and John, that they may have our present letters in our Chancery without payment to us of any fine or fee or of any fines or fees for the same letters of ours, or for any part thereof, or for our Great Seal in any way at the Exchequer of our said Chancery. And we will and grant by these presents that the most Reverend father in God, Henry, bishop of Salisbury, the Custodian of our Great Seal, by the authority of this present grant of ours, shall cause to be prepared and sealed so many and such briefs sealed with our Great Seal and directed to the custodian or clerk of our Exchequer for the discharge of the said fines and fees, as and such as may be necessary and requisite for the same without any other warrant or attendance being made before us in this matter.

In witness whereof, etc.

DISPATCH OF ALBERT. CANTINO FROM LISBON TO THE DUKE OF FERRARA, HERCULES D'ESTE.

Illustrissime et Excellentissime Princeps et Domine mi
Singularissime, etc:

Gia son nove mesi passati che questo Serenissimo Re mando alle parte de Tramontana dui legni ben armati solum per cer-chare se possibil fusse che a quella parte vi si possesse ritrovare terre on insule alcune. Cusi hora alli undeece del presente salvo et con preda, uno de epsi è ritornato; et ha portato gente et nove, lequale non me ha parso che sencia sentita de Vostra Ex-cellentia debbiano passare, et cusi precisamente tutto quello qual fu per il capitano al Re, me presente, raccontato, qui di sotto distinctamente scrivo. In prima raccontano che partiti che furon del porto di Lisbona, quatro mesi continui sempre per quello vento et a quel polo caminarno, ne mai in tutto questo spacio heberno vista de cosa alcuna; et intracti nel quinto mese, volendo pure inanti seguire, dicono che ritrovarno masse grand-issime de concreta neve andare, mosse de l'onde sopra il mare a galla, de la summità de lequali, per la potentia del sole, una dolce et chiara aqua se dissolvea, et disciolta per canaleti da epsi facti ruinando al basso giu cadea, onde, che havendo gia le nave bisogno de aqua, con li battelli a quelle se acostarno, et per quanto fu a lor necessario ne prenderno. Et temendo de stare in quel locho per il loro presente periculo, volseno tornare indrieta, ma pur aiutati da speranza, deliberarno como meglio potesseno andare anchora alcun giorno inanti, et posseronsi al viaggio, nel secondo giorno delquale ritrovarno el Mar gelato, et constrecti ha abandonare la impresa, cominciarno a circondare verso Maestro et ponente, ove tre mesi sempre con bon tempo a quella volta continuarno. Et nel primo giorno del quarto mese heberno vista, fra questi dui venti, d'un grandissimo paese, alquale con grandissima allegrezza se acostarno, et correndo molti et grandi fiumi dolci per quella regione al mare, per uno de epsi forsi una legua fra terra intrarno, et in quella dismontati trovarno copia de suavissimi et diversi fructi, et albori et pini de si smisurata alteza et grosseza che serebbero troppo per arbori de la piu gran nave che vadi in mare. Ivi non nasce biada d'alcuna sorte, ma gli homini di quel paese dicono non viv-ere se non de pescasone et caza de animali, de liquali el paese abonda, cioè cervi grandissimi, vestiti de longissimo pelo, le pelle de liquali usano per veste, ne fanno case et barche; et cusi lupi, volpe, tigri et zebellini. Affernano esservi, che mi pare miraculo, tanti falcuni peregrini, quante passare sono nel nostro paese, et io ne ho veduti, et sono belletissimi. De gli homini et de le donne de questo locho, ne pigliarno circha da cinquanta per forza, et hannoli portati al Re, liquali io ho visti, tochi et contemplati, et cominciando alla loro grandeza, dico che sono alquanto piu grandi del nostro naturale, com membre corrispondevole et ben formate. Li capilli de maschii sono longi, quanto noi altri usiamo, et pendeno con certe inhanelate volveture, et hanno il volto con gram signi segnato, et li segni sono como quelli de li indiani; gli occhi suoi tranno al verde da liquali quando guardano, dona un gram fireza a tutto il viso. La voce non se intende ma per cio in se non ha alcuna aspreza, anzi piu presto è humana. La condictione et gesti loro son mansuetissimi: rideno assai e dimostrano summo piacere; et questo è quanto alli homini. La dona ha piccole poppe et bellissimo corpo, et tien un viso assai gentile, il coloro de lequale piu presto se puo dire bianco cha altro, ma il maschio è assai piu negro. In summa, salvo che la teribile guardadura de l'homo, in ogni altra cosa mi pareno equali alla imagine et similitudine nostra. Da ogni parte sono nudi, salvo che le membre vergognose, che con una pelle de sopra dicti cervi se tengan coperti. Non hanno arme, ne ferro niuno, ma cio che lavorano et cio che fanno, fanno con durissime pietre aguze, con lequale non è cosa sì dura che non taglino. Questo naviglio è venuto di la a qua in un mese, et dicono esservi 2800 milia de distantia. L'altro compagno ha deliberato andar tanto per quella costa che vole intendere se quella è insula o pur terra ferma. Et cusi il Re con molto desiderio et quello et altri aspecta, liquali venuti che siano, et portando cosa digna de Vostra Excellentia, subito ne daro notitia a quella.....

Me raccomandando a Vostra Excellentia,

Illustrissimi et Excellentissimi Ducis D. V.

XXIIA. .

Most Illustrious and most Excellent Prince, my very singular good Lord:

Nine months have now passed since this most serene monarch¹ sent to the northern parts two well-equipped ships, for the sole purpose of finding out if it were possible to discover in that region any lands or islands. Now on the eleventh of the present month one of them has arrived safe and with some booty; and has brought people and news, which it appeared to me ought not to pass without your Excellency's hearing thereof; and thus I have set down here below clearly and exactly all that in my presence was told the king by the captain. First of all they relate that after setting sail as they did from the port of Lisbon, they made their way for four months continuously, always in the same direction and towards the same pole, and never in all that time did they see anything at all. Nevertheless in the fifth month, still wishing to push on, they say that they met huge masses of solid snow floating upon the sea and moving under the influence of the waves, from the summit of which by the force of the sun's rays a clear stream of sweet water was melted and once dissolved ran down in little channels made by itself, eating its way splashingly to the base. Since the ships now lacked fresh water, the boats approached and took as much as was then needed. Fearing to remain in that region by reason of this present danger, they wished to turn back, but yet, spurred by hope, decided to go forward as best they could for a few days more, and having got under way, on the second day they again discovered the sea to be frozen, and were forced to give up the undertaking. They then began to turn towards the north-west and the west, in which direction they made their way for three more months, always with favourable weather. And on the first day of the fourth month they caught sight between these two courses of a very large country which they approached with very great delight. And since throughout this region numerous large rivers flowed into the sea, by one of these they made their way about a league inland, where on landing they found abundance of most luscious and varied fruits, and trees and pines of such measureless height and girth, that they would be too big as a mast for the largest ship that sails the sea. No corn of any sort grows there, but the men of that country say they live altogether by fishing and hunting animals, in which the land abounds, such as very large deer, covered with extremely long hair, the skins of which they use for garments and also make houses and boats thereof, and again wolves, foxes, tigers and sables. They [the explorers] affirm that there are, what appears to me wonderful, as many falcons as there are sparrows in our country, and I have seen some of them and they are extremely pretty. They forcibly kidnapped about fifty men and women of this country and have brought them to the king. I have seen, touched and examined these people, and beginning with their stature, declare that they are somewhat taller than our average, with members corresponding and well-formed. The hair of the men is long, just as we wear ours, and they wear it in curls, and have their faces marked with great signs, and these signs are like those of the [East] Indians. Their eyes are greenish and when they look at one, this gives an air of great boldness to their whole countenance. Their speech is unintelligible, but nevertheless is not harsh but rather human. Their manners and gestures are most gentle; they laugh considerably and manifest the greatest pleasure. So much for the men. The women have small breasts and most beautiful bodies, and rather pleasant faces. The colour of these women may be said to be more white than otherwise, but the men are considerably darker. In fine, except for the terribly harsh look of the men, they appear to me to be in all else of the same form and image as ourselves. They go quite naked except for their privy parts, which they cover with a skin of the above-mentioned deer. They have no arms nor iron, but whatever they work or fashion, they cut with very hard sharp stones, with which they split in two the very hardest substances. This vessel came home thence in one month and they say the distance is 2800 miles. The other consort decided to make her way far enough along that coast to be able to learn whether it is an island or yet mainland. And thus the king awaits with great eagerness both that one and others, and when they have arrived, should they bring anything worthy of your Excellency's consideration, I shall immediately send you word of the same.....

My respects to your Excellency.

Your most Illustrious and most Excellent
Grace's servant,

ALBERT CANTINO.

LETTER FROM PIETRO PASQUALIGO TO THE SIGNIORY OF VENICE.

Copia di una lettera scritta in Portogallo a di 18 octubrio 1501: ricevuda a di 28 dezebrio 1501.

A di 9 dil presente arivo qui una di doe caravelle quale l'anno passato la Maiestà del dito re mando a discoprir terra verso le parte de tramontana, et ha conduto 7 tra homeni et femene et puti de terra per quella discoperta. Erra maistro et ponente lontan di qui miglia 1800. Questi homeni de aspeto, figura et statura somigliano cingani; hanno signada la faza in diversi logi, chi de pin, chi de mancho segni, vestiti di pelle de diversi animali, ma precipue di lodre. El parlar suo è penitus alieno da ogni altro che fin horra se sia sentito in questo regno, nè vien inteso da persona alcuna. Sonno benissimo disposti ne li membri loro, et hanno faze mansuetissime, ma modi et gesti bestialissimi et come de homeni silvestri. Credeno questi di la caravella la soprascrita terra esser terra ferma, et conjungerse con altra terra, laqual l'anno passato soto la tramontana fu discoperta da l'altre caravele de questa Maiestà. Licet non poteseno arivar a quella per esser el mar li agiazato con grandissima quantità di neve in modo che monti. Qual terra etiam credeno conjungerse con le Andilie, che furono discoperte per li Reali di Spagna, et con la terra dei papaga, noviter trovata per le nave di questo re che andorono in Calicut. El creder questo se movenno, prima, perche havendo corsa la costa de dita terra per spazio de 600 et piu miglia, non hanno trovato fin alguno; poi, perche dicono haver trovate molte fiumare grossissime, che li meteno in mare. Expetasse di zorno in zorno l'altra caravella capetania, da laqual distinctamente se intendera la qualità et condition ch'è la sopradita terra, per esser andata piu avanti, scorendo per quella costa, per discoprir quanto piu potra di quella. De questa nova, questa regia Maiestà ha auto gran piacer, perche li par che questa terra sera molto a proposito di le cose sue, per piu respeti, ma precipue perche essendo molto vicina a questo regno facilmente et in pocho tempo potra haver grandissima copia di legnami per fabrication di arbori et antene di nave, et homeni schiavi assai, da ogni fatica, imperho che dicono quella terra esser populatissima et piena di pini et altri legni optimi; et tanto ha piacuto dita nova a sua Maiestà che li ha fato venir volontà de mandar navilii iterum a dito locho, et acrescer la flota sua per India, per conquistar piu presto hormai cha per discoprir, perche li par che Dio sii con sua Maiestà ne le opere sue et mandi ad effecto ogni suo disegno.....

XXIII.A.

Copy of a letter written in Portugal on 18 October, 1501: received on 28 December, 1501.

On the ninth of the present month arrived here one of two caravels which his said majesty¹ sent out last year to discover land in the northern parts, and it has brought back seven natives, men, women and children, from the land discovered. It was towards the north and west, 1800 miles away. These men in aspect, appearance and stature resemble gypsies: they have their faces marked here and there, some with many, others with few signs, [and are] clothed in the skins of divers animals, but chiefly of otter. Their speech is utterly different from any hitherto heard in this kingdom; nor does any one understand it. They are exceedingly well-formed in their limbs, and have most gentle countenances, but most bestial habits and manners, like wild men. The crew of this caravel believes that the above-mentioned land is mainland, and that it joins another land which was discovered last year in the north by other caravels belonging to this king. It seems they could not land in that country as the sea there was frozen over with great masses of snow, like mountains. They are also of opinion that this land is connected with the Antilles¹, which were discovered by the sovereigns of Spain, and with the land of the Parrots² recently found by this king's vessel on their way to Calicut. To this belief they are moved in the first place, because after ranging the coast of said land for the space of 600 miles and more, they did not find it come to an end; next, because they say they have discovered many exceedingly large rivers which there enter the sea. The other caravel, the captain's, is expected from day to day, and from it will be learned positively the nature and condition of the above-mentioned land, because she set off to range that coast further, in order to discover as much of it as possible. This news has given the king here great pleasure, since it seems to him that this country will be most useful to his plans in several respects, but chiefly because being very near to his kingdom, he will be able to secure without difficulty and in a short time a very large quantity of timber for making masts and ships' yards, and plenty of men-slaves, fit for every kind of labour, inasmuch as they say that this land is very well populated and full of pines and other excellent woods. And said news has so pleased his majesty that it has made him desirous of sending ships again to said region, and of increasing his fleet for India, in order to conquer more quickly, now that he has discoveries in view; because it seems to him that God is with his majesty in his labours and brings every plan of his to fulfilment.

XXIVA.

King Emmanuel, etc. To as many as shall see these letters of ours, we make known, that Michael Corte Real, a nobleman of our court, and our major-domo, has now informed us that, forasmuch as his brother Gaspar Corte Real some time ago set forth from this city with three ships to discover the new land, of which he had already explored a part, and that about five months since two of the said ships arrived in the said city, but he [Gaspar] did not return, he [Michael] is desirous of going in search of him [Gaspar]; and that inasmuch as he, the said Michael Corte Real, has already spent a considerable sum in money and goods in the said expedition, as well in fitting out the said ships the first time his said brother discovered the said land, as in this second attempt in which he [Michael] accompanied him, on which account the said Gaspar Corte Real, having regard thereto, promised to share with him [Michael] the said land he should thus discover, in the same manner in which we by our letters granted and made it over to him [Gaspar], of which concession the said Gaspar Corte Real asked us before his departure to give him our letters patent, which at his request we granted, by which it was our pleasure that all the land he should give and set apart for him [Michael], should be his, in the same manner that he [Gaspar] held from us, and was set forth in his letters patent; and now the said Michael Corte Real has asked us for his safeguard to state this and to grant the same by these letters of ours, by which, of our own motion, certain knowledge, free will, royal and absolute power, it is our pleasure, that whatever portion of the mainland or islands hitherto found or discovered in that region by the said Gaspar Corte Real, which he has assigned and set apart for the said Michael Corte Real, be granted and made over to him for ever, as indeed by this grant we now make them over, in the same manner and as fully and with those clauses and conditions, rights, jurisdiction, governorships and other matters that are set out in the grant to the said Gaspar Corte Real.

Furthermore it is our pleasure having this same regard to what is stated, and also to the many services we have received and hope in the future to receive from the said Michael Corte Real, that should he not find his said brother [Gaspar], or should he be dead, which God forbid, we desire and it is our pleasure, that he have for himself, and we give and grant him, all the mainland and islands which he in this year 1502 may discover and find afresh, in addition to what his brother has found, with those jurisdictions, rights, governorships, clauses, conditions and other matters contained and set forth in the said letters patent to his said brother; and in witness thereof we order these our letters, signed and sealed by us with our hanging seal, to be given to him. Given in Lisbon on 15 January. Gaspar Rodriguez made this in the year of our Lord Jesus Christ 1502.

And we do not grant him those lands or islands which his said brother has found and discovered, but only those we have named as already stated.

OF LICENCE TO DISCOVER UNKNOWN LAND.

The king to all and singular to whom the present letters shall come, Greeting: Be it know to you and made manifest that we, for certain considerations us moving, by the advice of our Council, have granted and given licence, as by these presents, we grant and give licence for us and our heirs, as far as in us lies, to our well-beloved subjects Hugh Elyot and Thomas Asshehurste, merchants of our town of Bristol, and to our well-beloved John Gonzales and Francis Fernandez, Esquires, of the islands of the Azores, born under the dominion of the king of Portugal, and to any one of them whomsoever, and to the heirs, attorneys, factors or deputies of any one of them, and to them and to any one of them whomsoever, we grant full and free authority, faculty and power to sail and transport themselves to all parts, regions and territories of the eastern, western, southern, arctic and northern seas, under our banners and ensigns, with so many and so large and such ships or vessels as may be agreeable to them and may be necessary, of whatsoever burthen any ship or vessel may be, with masters, mates, mariners, pages and other men competent, requisite and necessary for the piloting, safe-conduct and defence of the aforesaid ships and vessels, at the cost and charges of the said Hugh and of the others aforesaid, and at such salaries, wages and stipends as they may agree upon among themselves, to find, recover, discover and search out any islands, countries, regions or provinces whatsoever of heathens and infidels in whatsoever part of the world placed, and to set up our banners and ensigns in any city, town, castle, island or mainland by them thus newly found, and to enter and seize the said cities, towns, castles, islands and mainlands for us and in our name, and as our vassals and governors, lieutenants and deputies to occupy, possess and subdue these, the property, title, dignity and suzerainty of the same being always reserved to us. Provided always that they in no wise occupy themselves with nor enter the lands, countries, regions or provinces of heathens or infidels first discovered by the subjects of our very dear brother and cousin the king of Portugal, or by the subjects of any other princes soever, our friends and confederates, and in possession of which these same princes now find themselves. And furthermore whenever henceforth these islands, countries, lands and provinces shall be acquired, recovered and found by the aforesaid Hugh and the others named, then we will by these presents that all and singular, as well men as women, of this our realm, and the rest of our subjects wishing and desiring to visit these lands and islands thus newly found, and to inhabit the same, may and shall have power to go freely and in safety to the said countries, islands and places with their ships, men and servants and with all their goods and chattels, and to dwell in and inhabit the same under the protection and government of the said Hugh and of the others aforesaid, and to acquire and obtain the riches, fruits and profits of the lands, countries and places aforesaid.

Giving furthermore and granting to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis and to any one of them, by the tenour of these presents, full power and authority to rule and govern all and singular the men, sailors, and other persons removing and making their way to the islands, countries, provinces, mainlands and places aforesaid for the aforesaid purpose, as well in the company of the said Hugh and of the others aforesaid, as in the company of others happening afterwards to betake themselves there, both on sea as well as in each of these countries, mainlands and places, after they have been found and recovered; and to make, set up, ordain and appoint laws, ordinances, statutes and proclamations for the good and peaceful rule and government of the said men, masters, sailors and other persons aforesaid, and also to issue proclamations, and to chastise and punish according to the laws and statutes set up by them in that region all and singular those whom they may find there hostile and rebellious, and disobedient to the laws, statutes and ordinances aforesaid and all those who shall commit and perpetrate theft, homicide or robbery, or who shall rape and violate any women of the islands or countries aforesaid against their will or otherwise.

And also we have granted to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas,

John and Francis, their heirs and assigns, that when any islands, countries, mainlands, region or province shall be henceforth discovered by the said Hugh and the others aforesaid, then it shall not be lawful for any subject or subjects of ours, during the term of forty years next and immediately following, to visit with their ships or to make their way to the said towns, countries, islands, mainlands and places for the purpose of trading and obtaining goods, without our royal licence and that of the said Hugh and of the others aforesaid, their heirs and assigns, or to enter the same, or to send to the same to obtain any goods. And after the term of the said forty years, that none of our subjects shall presume to sail to or visit any mainland, island, country or place thus newly found by the same Hugh and Thomas and the others aforesaid, without our aforesaid licence and that of the said Hugh and of the others aforesaid, on pain of the loss and forfeiture of all the goods and merchandise, commodities and vessels whatsoever venturing to sail to these places thus newly discovered and to enter the same, namely: one half to be for us and the other half for the said Hugh and the others aforesaid and for their heirs.

And furthermore of our abundant grace we have granted and by these presents grant for us and our heirs, as far as in us lies, to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, and to any one of them whomsoever, their heirs and assigns, that they and any one of them may and can bring and transport and cause to be brought or transported merchandise, wares, gold and silver in bar, precious stones, and other goods whatsoever, being the produce of the countries, islands and places aforesaid by them thus to be recovered and found, as well in the said ships and vessels, as in other strange ships whatsoever, from the said countries, islands, mainlands and places into this our realm of England, to any port whatsoever or other place in the same, and these sell and distribute for their own profit and advantage, any statute, act, ordinance or provision made or passed thence to the contrary notwithstanding.

And we, bearing in mind most especially the heavy costs and charges which are necessary for the performance and execution of the above, wishing therefore to do special favour on that account to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas and to the other persons mentioned, have granted, as by these presents we grant, to the same, their heirs and assigns, that they and any one of them whosoever, their heirs and assigns aforesaid, may, from time to time during the period of five years from the date of the recovery and discovery of the islands and countries aforesaid next and immediately following, land in the port or place aforesaid merchandise, wares and other goods, loaded and freighted on one vessel alone, of so great tonnage whatsoever it be, which are to be brought and transported into this our realm of England, and these sell, expose and distribute at their pleasure from time to time on any voyage during the period of the said five years without in any way paying to us or to our heirs within our said realm of England, any customs, subsidies or other duties upon the same goods, merchandise and other things aforesaid contained and loaded in the said one vessel alone. Provided nevertheless that with regard to the customs, subsidies, pondages and other payments for the rest of the merchandise, wares and goods on board all the other vessels, true answers as is right be given to us in conformity with the practice hitherto observed in this our realm of England.

And furthermore we will and grant by these presents that any master, mate and sailor of any ship whatsoever visiting and sailing to any mainland, island, country, province and place aforesaid, may have, enjoy and receive of the goods and wares to be brought from the said islands, mainlands and countries into this our realm of England the following customs and subsidies, namely: any master may have, enjoy and receive in any voyage the customs and subsidies on four tons; and any mate or quartermaster the customs and subsidies on two tons; and any sailor the customs and subsidies on one ton, even though they be loaded and charged as his own goods, or as the goods of any other person whomsoever. And this without any subsidies, customs, dues or duties being in any way paid or asked for the same tonnage within this our realm of England for our needs or those of our heirs.

And should it happen that any merchant or merchants of this our realm should arrive at the said islands, countries and places under licence of our said subjects, or without their licence, for the purpose of obtaining merchandise or wares, and should make a business of bringing goods and wares from those parts into this our kingdom, then we will and grant by these presents to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, and to their heirs and assigns, that they, during the aforesaid period of forty years, may receive from any such merchant, after payment to us of the usual customs, subsidies and other moneys due to us in such case, the twentieth part of all such goods and merchan dise to be brought and taken by the same from the said islands, countries and places into this our realm of England on any voyage during the said period of forty years; this twentieth part to be obtained and taken in the port in which it shall happen that the said goods are unloaded and discharged. Provided always that the aforesaid Hugh and the others aforesaid, their heirs and assigns, and not any other persons whosoever are henceforward the factors and attorneys in the said islands, mainlands and countries for any such merchants and other persons repairing there for the aforesaid cause during the said period of forty years in and for the trade carried on there by them. Provided also that no vessel loaded and freighted with goods and merchandise from the said regions thus newly found, after it has been brought into any port of this our kingdom, shall be discharged of these goods and merchandise except in the presence of the aforesaid Hugh and of the others aforesaid, or of their heirs or deputies assigned for this purpose, on pain of the forfeiture of the said goods and merchandise, of which one half shall be for us and the other half be given to the aforesaid Hugh and the others beforenamed and to their heirs.

And if in future any strangers or other persons should presume against the wish of the said Hugh and of the others beforenamed to sail to those parts for the purpose of enriching themselves, and to enter the same by violence, and there to insult the said Hugh and the others aforesaid or their heirs, and to expel and subdue them or otherwise to disturb them, then it is our wish and by the tenour of these presents we give and grant power to our said subjects to expel, resist and with all their force carry on and wage war, as well by land as by sea and on fresh water, against these strangers, even though they be subjects and vassals of any prince in league and friendship with us, and to arrest, bind and imprison them, there to remain until they shall have made fine and redemption to our said subjects, or otherwise to chastise and punish them according to the sober discretion of our said subjects and of their heirs.

And also by the tenour of these presents we give and grant full power to our aforesaid subjects and to the other persons aforesaid to make, constitute, nominate and appoint under them, by their letters patent to be sealed with their seals, any captains, lieutenants and deputies whomsoever in each of the states, cities, towns and places of the said islands, provinces, countries and places aforesaid, for the administration and government of all and singular the persons in those parts, under the rule and authority of our said subjects there dwelling, and for the due execution and administration of justice in the same, according to the tenour and effect of the ordinances, statutes and proclamations aforesaid.

And furthermore we have granted and by these presents grant to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, for the term of their lives and of the life of any one of them, the office of Admiral at sea in any of the places, countries and provinces whatsoever by them thus newly discovered, and henceforth to be found and recovered; and we make, constitute, ordain and appoint by these presents the said Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis and any one of them, conjointly and separately, our Admirals in the same parts, giving and granting them and any one of them by the tenour of these presents full power and authority to do, exercise and carry out all and singular the things which pertain to the office of Admiral, according to the law and the naval custom practised in this our realm of England.

And further after the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis shall thus have found, acquired and subdued any mainlands, islands, countries and provinces, cities, castles, states and towns by our assistance, then it is our wish and by these presents we give power to them, their heirs and assigns, to have, hold and possess for themselves, their heirs and assigns, all and singular such and so great mainlands, islands, countries, provinces, castles, cities, fortresses, states and towns, as and as great as they and their agents, lieutenants and servants are able to inhabit, take possession of, hold and maintain; the said lands, islands and places aforesaid to be had and held by them, their heirs and assigns, and by any one of them, of us and of our heirs in perpetuity by fidelity alone, without any fee or anything else being rendered or made to us or to our heirs for the same, always excepting the dignity, dominion, regality, jurisdiction and suzerainty of the same, wholly reserved to us.

And furthermore we have granted to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis that they, their heirs and assigns aforesaid, may enjoy, hold and possess the said mainlands, islands and countries thus conceded to them and to their heirs aforesaid as set forth above, after these have been discovered and recovered and when they are in full possession of the same, freely, quietly, peaceably, without any impediment of any sort from us or our heirs whomsoever. And that none of our subjects shall in any way expel them or any one of them from and out of their possession and title to and in the said mainlands, islands and countries in any way whatsoever against their will; promising in good faith and on the word of a king that we shall hold ratified, acceptable and stable all and whatsoever the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, and any one of them whosoever, by way of completing the premises, shall do or shall procure to be done herein. And that neither we nor our heirs at any time in the future shall ever disturb, hinder or molest them or any one of them or their heirs and assigns in their right, title and possession, nor shall we permit this to be done, nor cause it to be done by others our subjects or others whomsoever, as far as in us lies; nor shall we in any way remove them, their heirs and assigns from the said mainlands, countries, provinces and places for any cause afterwards arising or happening, nor shall we cause them to be removed or expelled by our subjects. Provided always that should it happen that the said Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis or any one of them, their heirs or assigns, or any one of these find, search out or recover in the future any places, islands, lands, regions, provinces and countries which heretofore have not been found, discovered, searched out and recovered by others our subjects or by any of their heirs and assigns having authority from us in that region by other letters patent of ours under our Great Seal, then it is our wish and by these presents we grant for us and our heirs to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, and to any one of them, their heirs and assigns, that they and any one of them whosoever may and shall have power to enter, hold, administer and peaceably and securely to inhabit and cause to be inhabited and to occupy at their free will the aforesaid islands, countries, provinces and other places with their ships, men, servants and chattels whatsoever, without hindrance or impediment from us or our heirs or from any others our lieges whomsoever. And that none of our other subjects shall dare to sail to or frequent any island, land, region, country and province or place thus newly found by the same Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, or to enter the same for the purpose of acquiring or securing the fruits, wares and merchandise produced in the same, without obtaining our royal licence and the special one of the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, on pain of the loss and forfeiture of all the goods, merchandise, commodities and ships whatsoever venturing to sail to and enter these places thus newly found by the same, namely: one half of these to be for us and the other half for the said Hugh, Thomas, John and Francis, their heirs and assigns.

And although by other letters patent of ours dated the nineteenth day of the month of May [sic pro March] in the sixteenth year of our reign [1501]¹, we have given and granted to our well-beloved Richard Warde, John Thomas and John Fernandez, and to the aforesaid Hugh Eliot, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis Fernandez, their heirs, attorneys, factors or deputies, and to any one of them whomsoever, power and authority to sail to all parts, regions and boundaries of the sea in order to find and recover and discover the islands, countries and provinces mentioned, and to pursue and carry out each of the other things contained and specified in the same letters according to the tenour and effect thereof; nevertheless we are unwilling that the same Richard Warde, John Thomas, and John Fernandez or any one of them, their heirs or assigns, should in any way enter, or that any one of them should enter or go near any of the countries, islands, lands, places or provinces found, recovered or discovered anew in the future under the authority and licence of these our present letters, unless they shall have first obtained leave from the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis.

And in case the said Richard Warde, John Thomas and John Fernandez, or any one of them, or their heirs or assigns, may wish, determine and decide to make their way to these islands, countries, regions and other places aforesaid with their ships and goods in order to acquire wares in the said islands, countries and other places aforesaid, or to send and depute thither any person or persons, that they and any one of them whosoever shall be obliged from time to time to pay, furnish and sustain all and every the costs and charges to be arranged at each voyage with the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis, namely: any one of them according to the amount of his share, as they may agree among themselves, as often as they shall undertake any voyage of this kind and make their way from this our realm to the countries and other places to be acquired and recovered as aforesaid. And furthermore since among the other things set out in the above-mentioned articles, we have granted to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis, that they and any one of them whosoever, their heirs and assigns, can and may conduct and transport into this our realm of England, as often as they please, during a period of five years, one vessel, of whatsoever burthen she be, loaded and freighted with all kinds of goods, merchandise and wares produced in the countries, islands, provinces, lands and places whatsoever aforesaid, without paying to us any customs, subsidies and other dues for the same, and freely dispose thereof; we now bearing in mind the praiseworthy intention which the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis entertain and practise to the honour and utility and contentment of this our realm, and considering their great costs and heavy charges, as well as the dangers both to their persons as to their goods and chattels whatsoever, which to all appearances they are about to incur in such a difficult, tempestuous, dangerous and distant maritime undertaking, of our abundant grace, have granted and given licence for us and our heirs to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis, and to any one of them whomsoever, their heirs and assigns, and to any one of these whomsoever, that they and any one of them whosoever may and can conduct and transport into this our kingdom, jurisdictions and territories, as often as it may please them, a second vessel of one hundred and twenty tons burthen, loaded and freighted with goods, commodities, jewels, gold and silver and other wares and merchandise produced in the countries, islands, provinces and other places by them thus henceforth newly to be recovered, during a period of five years from the date of the recovery of the islands and countries aforesaid next and immediately following, and there discharge her, and deal as they wish with the goods, commodities, merchandise, jewels and other things above stated, and the same shall be permitted and allowed to their heirs and assigns, and to any one of them whomsoever, freely and securely, without in any way paying to us any customs, subsidies or other dues for the same or any portion of the same. And this without any impediment, exaction, objection, annoyance or hindrance whatsoever from us or from our officers or servants whomsoever.

And furthermore since among the other things contained and set forth in our letters patent dated at Westminster on the said nineteenth of May [i.e. March], in the sixteenth year of our reign [1501], we, for certain considerations us moving, have granted to the aforesaid John Gonzales and Francis, that they should be for ever subjects and lieges of us and of our heirs, and in all lawsuits, quarrels, matters and affairs whatsoever should be held, considered, treated and governed as our true and faithful lieges born within this our realm of England, and not otherwise nor in any other manner; and that the same John Gonzales and Francis and all their children should pay or cause to be paid, and any one of them whosoever should pay or cause to be paid such customs, taxes and other dues for their goods, wares, merchandise and commodities brought into this our realm of England or carried out of this our said realm of England, as foreigners pay or are bound or accustomed to pay to us; and that the said John Gonzales and Francis should pay and either of them should pay to us and our heirs as many and as large customs, subsidies and other dues for their goods and merchandise as foreigners are bound to pay and deliver to us. We therefore for certain reasons us now moving, being unwilling that the aforesaid John Gonzales and Francis should be charged the customs and subsidies payable to us as foreigners for their goods, merchandise and wares as above stated, but wishing to shew them and each of them a further favour, of our special grace have given and granted and by these presents give and grant licence for us and our heirs to the aforesaid John Gonzales and Francis, that they and either of them, their heirs or the heirs of either of them pay such customs, subsidies and other dues for their goods, wares, merchandise and commodities whatsoever to be brought into this our realm of England or to be taken out of the same realm, as pay or are bound and accustomed to pay others our lieges born within our realm of England, our said letters patent made thence to the contrary notwithstanding. Provided always that the aforesaid John Gonzales and Francis under colour or cover of this concession or privilege of ours shall not introduce into our kingdom under their own names the goods of others as their own goods, on pain of the confiscation of the goods so introduced and of the loss of our aforesaid privilege; although express mention of the true annual value of the above or of the other gifts or concessions made by us before this time to the said Hugh Elyot, Thomas Aysshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis is in no wise set out in these presents, or any statutes, acts or ordinances or restrictions made, published, ordained or provided thence to the contrary, or any other circumstance, cause or matter whatsoever in any way notwithstanding.

And again of our further favour we have granted to the aforesaid Hugh, Thomas Asshehurst, John Gonzales and Francis our present letters patent in our Chancery without payment to us of any fine or fee or of any fines or fees for the same or any part thereof or for our Great Seal in any way at the Exchequer of our said Chancery.

And we will and grant by these presents that the most Reverend father in God, William, bishop of London, custodian of our Great Seal, by the authority of this our present grant, shall cause to be prepared and sealed as many and such briefs, sealed with our Great Seal, and directed to the custodian or clerk of our Exchequer, for the discharge of the said fines and fees as and such as may be necessary and requisite for the same, without any other warrant or attendance being made before us in this matter.

In witness whereof, etc.

GRANT AND CONFIRMATION TO VASCO ANNES CORTE REAL OF THE CONCESSION MADE TO HIS BROTHER GASPAR CORTE REAL OF THE LANDS DISCOVERED BY HIM, WITH THE LIMITATIONS AND DECLARATIONS THEREIN SET FORTH.

King Emmanuel, &c. To as many as shall see this confir-mation and grant of ours we make known, that there was pre-sented to us by Vasco Annes Corte Real, one of our Council and the Comptroller of our Household, a grant of ours signed by us and sealed with our leaden seal, which we made to his brother Gaspar Corte Real, a nobleman of our court, of the lands discovered by him, the tenour of which is as follows: King Emmanuel, by the grace of God, king of Portugal and of the Algarves, on this and that side of the ocean in Africa, lord of Guinea, and of the Conquest, Navigation and Commerce of Ethiopia, Arabia, Persia and India, to as many as shall see this grant of ours, we make known [etc., as in No. XVIIA, p. 35].

Since through the death of his said brother the said grant, according to the tenour thereof, comes and passes to him, the said Vasco Annes Corte Real, he asks us as a favour to order our letters of confirmation to be given to him in due form, and in view of his request, and considering and remembering how his brother, the said Gaspar Corte Reall, was the first to discover the said lands, at his own expense, and at the expenditure of much labour and at the risk of his life; how finally he perished therein with many servants and men whom he had taken with him; and likewise how afterwards his brother Michael Corte Real, who was our major-domo, on searching for his said brother with men and ships, fitted out at his own expense, wherein he expended much of his patrimony in order to look for, find and recover his said brother, and also in order to serve us in the discovery of the said lands, at which he laboured as far as was possible, likewise died after his said brother, and lost his life therein, and with him many of his father's, his own and the said Vasco Annes's servants, whom he had with him; and we bearing this in mind and also how in all this the said Vasco Annes always assisted his said brothers with his own property, servants and men, and even to this day pays and liquidates with his money the debts, charges and obligations left behind on account of this by his said brothers; for which reasons it is right and proper that the reward and praise for the services in which his said brothers lost their lives, should be perpetuated in the said Vasco Annes Corte Real and in his descendants: We by these present letters patent assign the succession of our said grant to the said Vasco Annes Corte Real and to all his heirs and successors, according to the tenour of the said grant, of which he and his successors shall everywhere make as complete use as did the said Gaspar Corte Real during his life, and on his death, his sons, heirs and successors to whom by direct descent the said grant ought to come, and in the form and manner stated and declared in the said grant, and with all the clauses therein contained, in such a manner as if it had been really drawn up for the said Vasco Annes Corte Real in the first instance. And we desire that, both now and at all times, it be so followed and construed in spite of any law, ordinances, rights, custom, pretentions, debated questions, decrees of the Three Estates and mental law and anything else whatsoever that might or could run in any way to the contrary; for we revoke, annul and declare all such invalid and without force and effect. And we desire that there be no opposition in whole or in part to the said grant made to the said Gaspar Corte Real, or to these letters of confirmation and declaration, or to the whole contents thereof; and of our royal and absolute power, we here supply any and every defect and authority that may be necessary for the greater stability of all the above, notwithstanding there be a clause of which special mention should be made. And for the security of the said Vasco Annes Corte Real and of all his heirs and successors, to whom this grant should of right come, we order these letters patent of ours, signed by us and sealed with our leaden seal, to be given, which we direct to be carried out in full and to be fulfilled according to the tenour thereof. And we desire and it is our pleasure, that in virtue of these letters patent, without further judicial authority, the said Vasco Annes Corte Real and his descendants order real and actual possession to be taken of all the said land and matters set forth in the said grant; for such is our pleasure. Given in the city of Coimbra on 17 September. Andrew Piriz made this in the year of our Lord Jesus Christ 1506.

COPY OF A LETTER FROM OUR LORD THE KING IN REGARD TO THE TITHE ON CODFISH.

Diogo Brandã, We, the king, send you many greetings:

We have learned at this time how in the sea-ports of that district between the Douro and Minha,¹ or in some of them, a grant of possession was made of the tithes on the fish that come from the fisheries of Newfoundland to those who hold fishing-tithes from us, and this by virtue of some verdicts given by the Judges of the royal Customs in favour of those who hold the said tithes. And since this is a matter of great importance to our service and must not thus pass without control, We order you, as soon as this reaches you, to find out the towns in which the said possession has been thus granted, and not to allow those who hold it to make use thereof; and you are to give possession to our officers, in order that they may collect tithes in our behalf until a final decision has been reached in this case in the proper place and manner. And possession shall not be granted to any one, except by verdict given in our court and signed with our sign-manual and not in any other manner. And into this said matter of possession you are to inquire as well in the towns in which some of these exist, as in those in which none has been granted; you are to give an account thereof in all the sea-ports of that district and to provide therefor as already stated. And show great care in this because it is most important for our service. Written in Leiria on 15 October. Antonio Carneiro, 1506. Copied by Diogo Pinto, collector.

...To this application, I, Peter de Barcellos, in case it be not necessary to approve thereof, make reply and say that my ancestor, a Rodrigo Chamarro, held the said lands and biscuits jointly, by a grant from Alfonso do Amarall, formerly auditor in this island with the commission of captain: that next, the said lands passed from the said Rodrigo Chamarro to me, Peter de Barcellos. I received again the lands and biscuits jointly by a fresh grant of discharge from the receiver of the king's customs, on which lands I made many clearings and betterments, possessing cultivated lands which could easily produce from corn-fields 14 to 15 *moios*¹ of bread. Being thus at the said date in possession of these, I received a command from the king, our master, to go on a voyage of discovery, I and a John Fernandes, proprietor, on which discovery we were absent three good years; and when I returned to the said island, I found my people driven from the said lands, and some sons of John Velladam in possession thereof, who were conveying and transferring them to many other people, etc.

WARRANT FOR THE AGREEMENT MADE WITH JOHN DE AGRAMONTE ON SETTING FORTH TO DISCOVER THE SECRET OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

Queen Joanna, etc.

Whereas I have been informed by you, John de Agramonte, Catalonian, of the town of Lerida, which is in the kingdom of Catalonia, that the king, my lord and father, ordered to be drawn up and made a certain contract and agreement with you, by which you were to go and should go at your own cost and charges to discover a certain Newfoundland within our sphere of influence, according as it is stated in the said agreement and contract, the tenour of which said agreement is as follows:

The King.

The agreement which at my order was made and concluded with you, John de Agramonte, Catalonian, born in Lerida, in order to go and discover the secret of the Newfoundland is this:

First, that you may and do go with two vessels of the size that appears to you proper, provided they belong to our vassals and subjects, and also that the people you take with you be inhabitants of these kingdoms, (except that two of the pilots may be Bretons or belong to some other nation which has been there), at your own cost and charges, to the said Newfoundland, along the coast or region which shall seem best to you and to the sailors you take with you on the said voyage, not touching at that part which belongs to the Most Serene King of Portugal, our son, and this is understood to mean those portions which are within the limits marked out between ourselves and him; and that you are to fit out and provision the said ships for the said voyage at your own cost and charges; and in order to fit them out and load them, I give you licence so to do in the ports of Laredo and Santander or in either of them; and in order that you be not impeded in this, I give you by these presents an order for the town-councils and authorities of the said towns and ports to permit and allow you to do this; on which said voyage you are to set sail as early and in the best state you can.

Likewise, that I am to and do give you licence, and by these presents give it to you, to buy and load in the said vessels everything necessary for the fitting out of the said ships, and any wares necessary for bartering in the said Newfoundland, without paying any of the dues collectible by us on the said goods, taking an oath before the authorities that you will indeed make the said voyage.

Likewise, that whereas you have to go to Brittany for the pilots who are to accompany you on the said voyage, and desire to provide yourself there with wines and flour and meat, and to bring them to the said port of Laredo or Santander, I am to and do give you licence and authority, that on arriving with the said ships and flour and meat, you do not pay the dues collectible by us, nor are you to be made to unload these goods, any custom or decrees to the contrary notwithstanding; for all which the necessary authority has been given to you.

Likewise, that you are to and do give us, after your costs have been deducted, the sixth part of all you may barter or obtain in any manner whatsoever on the said voyage; and that all the remainder be yours; and that you are to bring this sixth part, which we are thus to have, and do bring it to us wherever we may be, at your own cost and charges.

Likewise, that I am to give permission and by these presents do give it to you, that the sailors who may go with you on the said voyage be allowed to carry and do carry in their chests the cloth and merchandise that may seem proper to you to barter in the said Newfoundland, with the understanding that at the time they put it on board, they register it before the notary of the said expedition; and that of whatever they barter or obtain with the same, in any manner whatsoever, they give us the sixth part, as you are obliged in the paragraph above to do; and that you are under obligation to carry this out in their name; and that whatever is not registered be lost, and they lose it, and it be given to our exchequer and treasury.

Likewise, that should you bring us a favourable-report of the said Newfoundland, and find there good samples of gold and other things of use to us, I shall order you to be received as *Contino*¹ and servant of our house, the salary which is just and proper for our service and which will be to your honour according to the information you may bring us, being entered upon the books of the same, in order that you may receive payment thereof all the days of your life.

Likewise, that I am to give you and by these presents promise that I shall order you to be given and will give you a grant in due form for yourself and your heirs and successors for ever of the twelfth part of the gold that may be found and collected in the said Newfoundland, as with God's help we hope I shall order you to be given and will give you the said grant.

Likewise, that after the said Newfoundland shall have been explored, should a colony be sent there in our name, as has been done in the said island of Hispaniola [Hayti], I promise by these presents to grant you, and if it be necessary henceforth grant you the office of chief constable in the said Newfoundland, for you and for your heirs and successors.

Likewise, that should a trading factory be set up in the said Newfoundland, which you are thus to explore and discover, I promise you by these presents to grant the office of treasurer of the same to John Criado, for whom you have asked it of me.

Likewise, that should a smelting foundry be set up in the said Newfoundland, I promise by these presents to grant the office of sweeper in the same to Christopher Vasques, for whom you have asked it of me.

Likewise, that in case on the way to or from the said land, going there direct by the route, track and course that will be shown to you in a document signed by the bishop of Palencia, my chief chaplain and one of the members of our council, and by Lope Conchillos, our secretary, and not making your way to any other place or places whatever, you should be seized and detained at the instance of any Christian king, should you inform me of this, I am under obligation to free you effectually and without injury from the said place and prison, which I declare and promise I shall fulfil and carry out without fail.

Likewise, that should God bring you back safe from the said voyage, I am to give you licence, and by these presents give it to you, that you may, on arriving the first time with news from the said Newfoundland, enter and cast anchor in any port whatsoever of Galicia or Biscay where you may arrive and the weather carry you, on condition that on your arrival, before you or any one of those who have come in the said ships from the said Newfoundland disembarks, or they unload anything from the ships, you notify the authorities of the said port where you thus arrive, how you come from the said voyage by our order; and you are to declare before them all the gold and goods which, God willing, shall in any manner be brought back; and that all be entered in a register before the notary whom the authorities of the said port shall appoint and nominate for that purpose.

Likewise, that should a trading factory for the said Newfoundland be set up here in Spain, I am to appoint and by these presents, if the said factory be set up, henceforth do appoint Ponce, our chorister and chaplain, Factor of the said factory, who is your, John de Agramonte's, cousin, for whom you asked it of me.

For all which I appoint you, the said John de Agramonte, captain of my two ships and of the people in them, and grant you, as well at sea as on your arrival in the said Newfoundland, until your return with news of the same. high justice and civil and criminal jurisdiction, with all its incidents and dependences, annexed and connexed, during the said period, with appeal in every case before us in our Council; and I order all the people on board the said vessels and each of them to obey you as our captain, and to allow and permit you to exercise the said office, and civil and criminal jurisdiction.

In regard to all the above and to each part and parcel thereof, should you the said John de Agramonte perform all the duties therein set forth, and those which are proper to the said navigation and voyage, by these presents I promise to give orders that all contained in this grant and each part and parcel thereof be carried out and fulfilled, and if it be necessary, by these presents do give orders to all magistrates, chief justices, mayors, constables, superintendents and other authorities whatsoever of all the cities and towns and places of these kingdoms and dominions, that they read this said grant and all set forth in the same, and carry out and fulfil it for you absolutely, according to its contents, and do not proceed nor depart from the tenour and form thereof in any way in your case on pain [of the loss] of my favour and of 10,000 maravedis for our exchequer and treasury from each who shall do the contrary. Given in the city of Burgos on 8 October, 1511. I the King. By order of His Highness Lope Conchillos. Signed by the bishop of Palencia.

You have entreated me in order that the said agreement and contract be the better fulfilled and carried out, to give you my warrant for the same, since, with God's aid, it is your design to do us much service on this said voyage, and I, in order to show you goodwill and favour, in acknowledgement of the wish and desire by which you have been moved to serve us in the above, have deigned to order and by these presents confirm and approve the said contract and agreement set forth above, and promise you and give you my royal word, that it shall be fulfilled and executed for you absolutely according to its tenour, you carrying out the said voyage and the things set forth above in the manner agreed upon, and not doing anything wrong for which by the laws of these kingdoms you should be deprived of the said favour; and nothing will be done to you or enacted against it at any time nor in any way; and by these letters of mine I command the Prince Don Carlos¹, my very dear and much beloved son, and the members of my Council, the mayors, constables of my house, court and chancery and all the councils, magistrates, chief-justices, mayors, constables, superintendents and other authorities whatsoever of all the cities, towns and places of my kingdom and dominions, to fulfil and execute for you the said contract and agreement set forth above absolutely, according to its tenour, and not to move nor proceed against it at any time or in any way; and neither you, nor they are to do the contrary of what is desired in any way, etc. Given in Burgos on 29 October, 1511. I the King. I, Lope Conchillos, secretary of the Queen, our lady, had this written out by order of the king, her father. Agreed to by the bishop of Palencia.

Know as many as shall see this copy of a grant given in legal form by order and authority of justice, that on 22 May in the year of our Lord Jesus Christ 1521, in the market-place of the town of Vianna, at the mouth of the Lima², before Alfonso Lopez, alderman and judge's deputy in the said town, in the absence of Dr. Francis Mendez, judge-advocate for the king, our lord, with jurisdiction over the said town and its environs, etc., appeared John Alvarez Fagundez, nobleman of the said lord's court, who produced and had me, the notary, read and publish to the said judge's deputy a grant, written on parchment and signed with the sign-manual of the king, our lord, and sealed with his hanging seal, the tenour of which is, word for word, as follows:

King Emmanuel, by the grace of God, king of Portugal and of the Algarves, of this and that side the sea in Africa, lord of Guinea and of the conquest, navigation and commerce of Ethiopia, Arabia, Persia and of India, etc. To as many as shall see these our letters we make known, that we have granted to John

Alvarez Fagundes, nobleman of our court, a charter of ours in which it is stated that, thinking it to be to God's service and our own, and in order to show him favour, it is our pleasure, should he set off to discover lands, to give and grant him the governorship of all those islands and lands he may discover, in the same form and manner that the governors of our islands of Madeira and the Azores have received their offices; and it was our pleasure, since he had no son but only a daughter, that his said daughter and her successors, both in the male as well as the female line, should inherit the said governorship, notwithstanding any mental law, and that the above be understood of those matters in regard to which no grant of appointment has already been made. And that this grant should not include nor embrace the first land of Brazil from north to south, but towards the north, as we read in the said charter; by virtue of which charter he set off to discover lands and islands in the region therein stated, and he now proves to us by witnesses worthy of credence, that he has found the following lands and islands, namely: the land said to be mainland which stretches from the line of demarcation with Castille¹, which is contiguous in the south with our boundary, as far as the land that the Corte Reals discovered, which is in the north²: the three islands in Watering-place bay on the coast running north-east and south-west: and the islands named by him Fagundes are these, namely: St. John³, St. Peter, St. Anna and St. Antonio: the islands of St. Panteliom's archipelago, with Pitiguoem island: the islands of the Archipelago of the 11,000 Virgins⁴: the island of Santa Cruz,⁵ which lies at the foot of the bank, and another island also named St. Anna, which was sighted but not put upon record; of which lands and islands we give and grant him the governorship in the same form and manner that we have granted the governorship of our islands of Madeira and the rest, with all the clauses and conditions, favours and salaries, privileges and liberties contained and set forth in the grants of the said governorships, relating both to jurisdiction and to the revenues, and with all else therein contained. And in regard to the succession, he is to have it in the manner set forth in the said charter. And furthermore it is our pleasure to give and grant him, in the above-mentioned manner with legal right and inheritance, the white and black soap-houses of the said lands and islands. And furthermore we command the comptroller of our estate and all our magistrates, judges and justices, receivers, dwellers in and inhabitants of the said islands and lands, both present and future, to carry out and observe throughout, and to cause to be carried out and observed these our letters to the said John Alvarez Fagundez and his successors, and to grant possession thereof to him without raising any difficulty or impediment, for such is our pleasure, in view of his services and of how at his own expense and cost he discovered the said lands and islands and spent therein much of his wealth. And in confirmation of all we command these letters signed by us and sealed with our hanging seal to be delivered to him. Given in our very noble and always loyal city of Lisbon on 13 March. Emmanuel de Fonseca made this in the year of our Lord Jesus Christ 1521. And in regard to the civil jurisdiction, it is understood he is to possess and use it in the form and manner that our governors of the island of Madeira now do, and to which we have restricted its use in his case.

When this grant had been thus presented, the said John Alvarez asked the said judge's deputy to order a copy thereof in legal form to be given to him, as he was in need thereof. And when the said judge's deputy heard these words and saw that the said grant was free from all defects and suspicion, he interposed his ordinary authority, and ordered me, the notary, to give him the copy in legal form, which he directed should have the same force and complete credit as the original itself. To You, Most Honourable Lords, Messrs. the Lieutenant, Sheriffs and Council of the city of Bayonne:

Messrs. Pes de Le Lande and Matthew de Biran, merchants of the said city, humbly set forth, how at present their vessel, called the Mary, has arrived within the Bocan¹, loaded with red lead, and on account of the great currents, it is not possible to bring her up to unload her in the said city; and as they have now decided to send the said vessel to Newfoundland, since the weather is favourable for making the said voyage; and if they do not do so at once, the said voyage will be lost for this year: likewise the sailors boast they will leave them, if the said voyage is not promptly begun, to which end they have made several cases of biscuits (?) and other provisions; wherefore they beg and humbly petition you, my Lords aforesaid, that, taking the above into consideration, you will be pleased of your kind favour to grant them permission and licence to unload at the said Bocan or higher up, where it shall be quickly done, and to bring the said red lead in barges here to this said city, in order to set off on the said voyage; for otherwise if the said permission be not given them, they will miss the said voyage, which will be a very great loss to them; and this you will be pleased to prevent. And in so doing you will put the said petitioners under obligation to serve the said city wherever possible.

The present request having been read, and here in council considered, permission and licence have been given to the said petitioners to unload the said red lead at the said Bocan or higher up, in order to bring it in barges here to this city, according to their request; and this by special favour, on payment of the accustomed dues, without prejudice to the regulations of the said city and edict of the king, our lord. Given in council, the last day of March 1520. (n. st. 1521).

A PROJECTED EXPEDITION TO NEWFOUNDLAND.

An answer made to serten of the kinges counsell as consernynge the kinges shippes to be occupied.

The first day of Marche¹ here assembled my lord the maire, Sir Laurence Aylmer, M. Monoux, M. Milborn, M. Bayly, & M. Wylkynson, aldermen, M. Carter, M. Clerk, & M. Vaughan, Wardens & of the Counsell, M. Hawkyngs, M. Cremor, M. Gainc, M. Rudston, M. Askue, M. Gentyll, M. Perpount, M. White, M. Champyon, M. Sadler, & M. Dolphyn, and at the said assembly yt was aggreed that the Wardens w^t M. Rudston, M. Perpount & M. Dolphyn shall common w^t the Wardens of other aunncy-aunt feliships to knowe what aunswere were best to be made to M. Wynkfield & M. Broun, of the kynges counsell, concernynge the kinges shippys. And the same day, aftir assembly made at ffirere Austyns² by wardens of dyvers companys, and aggreed all aftir one mynd, we made our aunswere in wryting & delyvered yt unto the said counsell by thassent of this hows, the tenour where of is this that foloweth:

The aunswere of the Wardens of Drapers of London unto the reporte of Sir Robert Wynkfeld and Sir Wolston Broun, knyghtes, and of our Soverayn lord the kinges moste honorable counsell, ffirst where it hathe pleased the kinges highnes of his moste gracious zeles, good mynd, and tendre favour towardes his merchaundes of London had, as by the reporte of the foresaid Sir Robert and Sir Wolston unto the said Wardens lately made, ffor the whiche moste gracious zeles, good mynd and tendre favour, all we ben naturally bounden to pray to God for his moste gracious and prosperous contynuaunce in good helth and long lyf. And as toching the taking or receyving of one of the kinges shippes, we say we have noo auctorite to bynd our hole company and ffeliship unto any suche charge. And also that in our company be but fewe Adventurors, saving onely in to fflaunders, where unto requireth noo grete shippes. ffurthermore we say that if it be the kinges pleasur to caws to be manned, rygged, appareled and vitayled suche a ship as the company shall think convenient, that than we, the said wardens, shall applye us to labour our said company for to freght and laid the said ship to the best of our powers, having suche a resonable price of ye freght, as other shipps hath in lyke viage & lading. Also we thynk it is dowtfull that any English ship shalbe sufferd to laid in Spayn & in other countres, by reason of such actes & statutes there made, after suche lyke maner as be made in Eng-lond for gascon wyn & colles wood¹ from Burdeux.

The xi day of Marche here assembled M. Monoux, M. Milborn, M. Bayly & M. Wylkynson, Aldermen, M. Carter, M. Clerk, M. Vaughan, Wardens, the hole counsell, the lyverey & the hole body of the ffeliship, ryche & poure, and at the said assembly was redd openly unto them the Articles folowing, directed unto us by the Wardens of the Mercers from the kinges Counsell and to x other craftes of the moste Aunciant, in thies woordes, that is to say:

Certen number of shippes to be appoynted to go into the new fownd lande.

ffirst the king & my lord Cardinall² & the Counsell thynk-eth aswele for his honour as for the generall welth of this his Realm that there be appoynted a certayn noubre of ships to be prepared for a viage to be made into the newefound Iland.

And his gracious pleasur is, that it be opened unto the generaltie of merchauntes adventurers & to certayn companys to knowe there benevolent myndes there in.

And the demaund that is required of you is to furnyshe v shipps aftir this maner: The kinges Grace to prepare them in takyll, ordenaunce and all other necessities at his charge, And also the king to bere the adventour of the said shipps, And the merchauntes & companys to be at the charge of the vitayling and mennys wages of the same shipps for one hole yere, and the shipps not to be above vj^{xx} ton a pece. And also it is the kinges pleasur that this Citie of London shalbe as hede Reulers for all the hole realm, for asmany Cites and Townes as be mynded to prepare any shipps forwardes for the same purpos & viage, as the Town of Bristowe hath sent up there knowlege, that they wyll prepare ij shipps; And if ye be mynded to doe as afore is resyted, his gracious pleasur is that x yere after, there shall no nacion have the trate but you.

¹ Wood for casks. By I Henry VII, c. 8, Gascon wine could only be brought to England in English ships.

And to have respyte for there custom xv monthes & xv monthes, and the said Wardens to make aunswere in wryting of the premisses aforesaid bitwen this & Wednysday next comyng.

The premisses considered, the Maister, Wardens & Counsell endeverd them furthwith w^t the best wordes, exortacion and diligence, to knowe the benivolent mynd of every man there assembled at that tyme, and also commaunded them that than were absent to come bifore my lord the maire and them the next morowe aftir. Soo that all there graunts amownted to a small somme. And my lord & maisters seying that, made there aunswer in form folowing, that is to say:

Answer made to byl sent by the Wardens of Mercers.

The aunswere of the Wardens of Drapers of London w^t thassent & consent of the moste parte of all there company, unto a byll lately sent unto them by the Wardens of the Mercers of London conserving the appoyntement of v shippes to be prepared towards the Newefound Iland.

ffirst the foresaid Wardens & company of Drapers supposen and say, that if our Soverayne lord the kinges highnes, the Cardinales grace and the kinges moste honorable counsell were duely & substauncially enformed in such maner as perfite knowlege myght be had by credible reporte of maisters & mariners naturally born w^t in this Realm of England, having experience, and excercised in and about the forsaid Iland, aswele in knowlege of the land, the due courses of the see, thiderward & homeward, as in knowlege of the havenes, roodes, poortes, creakes, dayngers & sholdes there uppon that coste and there abowtes being, that than it were the lesse joperdy to aventur thider than it is nowe, all though it be ferther hens than fewe English maryners can tell.

And we thynk it were to sore aventour to joperd v shippes w^t men & goodes unto the said Iland uppon the singuler trust of one man, callyd as we understand, Sebastyan¹, whiche Sebastyan, as we here² say, was never in that land hym self, all if he makes reporte of many thinges as he hath hard his ffather and other men speke in tymes past.

And also we say that if the said Sebastyan had bene there and were as comyng a man in & for thoos parties as any man myght be, having non other assistauntes of maisters & maryners of Englonde, exercised & labored in the same parties, for to guyd there shippes & other charges than we knowe of, but onely trusting to the said Sebastyan, we suppos it were no wysdom to aventur lyves & goodes thider in suche maner, what for fere of syknes or dethe of the said Sebastian, or for desevering of the said v shippes by nyght or by day, by force of tempestes or otherwyse, one from an other owt of syght, for than it shuld be gretely to dowte wheder ever thes v shippes shuld mete ayen in company or nay, for the said Sebastian cannot be but in one ship, than the other iiij^{or} shippes & men standes in grete perell, for lak of connyng maryners in knowlege of thoos parties, and to ordre & guyd them; and soo the vitaylles and mennys wages shalbe spent in vayn, and they glad to retorn homeward w^t small comforte, for it is said among maryners in old proverbe: "he salys not surely that salys by an other mannys compas."

Also we say that it is not possible that the said v shippes, besides there Balast, may receyve the vitaylles to suffice so many men for one hole yere, soo that we think verely that in this adventour can be perceyved any advauntage or profite to growe unto any man, but rather losse and damage, besides the grettest joperdy of all, whiche is mennys lyves.

Than aftir that this our Aunsware and the Aunswers of x other crafts were debated & resoned among them all at Saynt Thomas of Akers¹, they agreed to send furth the Governour and iiij^{or} Wardens of divers misters unto my lord Cardynall w^t this commyssion folowing:

Here aftir foloweth the Articles that the commissioners sent to my lord Cardynall from the Wardens of xj companys to be spoken in the behalf of the said Wardens.

ffyrst the foresaid Wardens sayen that there companys be wylling to accomplishe the kinges desire and pleasur in furnyssing of ij shippys accordingly, and they suppos to furnyssh the thyrde, soo that one may bere w^t an other indifferently of xj ffelishippes assembled w^t the Aldermen of the same, And also uppon certayn articles to them to be graunted by the kinges highnes & his honorable Councell.

And the said wardens desyre to have lenger respyte for a full aunswere therein to be yeven.

¹ Cf. J. Watney, Some Account of the Hospital of St. Thomas of Acon, 94-5, London, 1892.

The said commissioners brought aunswere fro my lord Cardynall that the king wold have the premisses to goo furth and to take effect. And there uppon my lord the maire was send for to speke w^t the king for the sam matier, so that his grace wold have no nay there in, but spak sharpely to the maire to see it putt in execucion to the best of his power.

ffor the same purpose the xxvj day of Marche my lord the Maire commaunded the hole company of all this fraternite to assemble bifore hym at the Drapers hall, where was w^t grete labour & deligence & many divers warnynges, graunted first & last ij^c marces¹, presentyd by a byll to the maire, the ixth day of Aprill in this maner:

ij^c marcks grauntyd towart maryners wages & rygging of shippes to the new found land.

The Maister and Wardens of Drapers of London in the names of all there company graunten of there benevolent myndes to pay towardes maryners wages and vitayling of certayn shippes for one viage to be made by the grace of God into the Newfound Iland ij^c marces under suche condicion as shalbe articleed bitwen the kinges moste Noble counsell and the Adventurers of the said cite of London unto the foresaid Iland, the names of the payers & their severall sommes for the said ij^c marces appereth in the iijd leef following.

Please it your hignesse to understand that yesternyght I w^t themporours armye arrayved here, the circumstance wherof and of every other thing concernyng the same, I have written at length to my lord cardynalles grace, which I knowe well your grace will see, and therfore I trouble not your hignesse therw^t at this tyme. The King¹

Forasmuch as you, Stephen Gomez, our pilot, in order to serve us, on my giving you licence and permission for this, and ordering to be fitted out for you a caravel of about fifty tons' burden, armed and furnished with provisions for one year and with merchandise which might cost, fitted out and put in order, as much as one thousand five hundred ducats, and on my giving you the charge of our captain of the said caravel and granting you the things set forth below, offer to go and discover Eastern Cathay, of which you have notice and information, where you hope to discover as far as our Molucca islands, which all falls and lies within our limits and sphere of influence; and seeing that along this said route to Eastern Cathay there are many islands and provinces hitherto undiscovered, very rich in gold, silver, spices and drugs, I accepted under the following conditions and terms:

First of all I give you licence to make the said voyage and discovery on condition you do not enter the limits of the sphere of influence of the Most Serene king of Portugal, my very dear and much beloved cousin and brother¹, nor approach any of his possessions, but only within our limits; because our wish is that the agreement and covenant between the royal crown of our kingdoms and that of Portugal be observed and carried out in full.

And for this I say that I shall order the said caravel of the said burden of fifty tons to be fitted out for you, and shall order it to be provisioned and victualled for you for one year, and the necessary goods to be placed on board, and shall appoint you our captain thereof; and for this I shall order you to be given our letters patent in due form.

Furthermore, to show favour to our subjects and people, it is my will and wish to give them licence and permission, and by these present I give it to them, that besides what we shall order to be placed in the said caravel, they may provide and furnish whatever may be wanting for the despatch and fitting out of the said caravel; and I grant and permit and give licence that in the first four fleets fitted out and sent to the lands and regions that you may discover and where you may afterwards go, they may fit out and furnish a similar quantity to that now furnished; and if the fleet be larger, as it is hoped it will be, they may contribute to the rest, one penny per pound, of the expense of the fleets afterwards to be sent and fitted out for the said region, without being obliged to pay to us for this first voyage any duty or other charge whatever more than the twentieth part, which is designed for redemption of captives and pious works.

Moreover, forasmuch as you informed me that since you are venturing your person in this enterprise, you would like to provide some portion of the cost, by which you may recover some gain, and have asked me to order you to be paid in advance two hundred ducats of the salary you receive from us as our pilot in the Casa de la Contratacion at Seville, or to order you to be received as shareholder and partner in the said fleet, regarding this, I say that I shall order you to be received as shareholder and partner in the said fleet to the amount of the said two hundred ducats, which it is my will should be paid to you in advance, which are to be deducted from the portion we are furnishing; and you are to profit by them and they are to be deducted from your said salary, or I shall order them to be paid to you in advance at the said Casa, as you ask.

Furthermore I declare that I shall order two artillery-men to be provided for you, persons both expert, qualified and trustworthy, to serve in the said fleet.

Moreover, I desire and it is my wish, in order that the masters, pilots, sailors and other persons who go in the said fleet may serve in her with better will, to give them licence and by these presents I give it to them, that, after our goods and those of the said partners on board the said caravel have been traded, they may barter whatever is in their chests and their hat-money for whatever they wish and find suitable; and that on whatever they may thus barter and bring back in the said chests and with their hat-money, to the value of two hundred gold ducats when sold in these kingdoms, they be not obliged to pay us dues nor any other charge more than the twentieth part; but should the sailors and the said ship's-boys barter and bring back things of more value than the said two hundred ducats, they must pay us one-fifth of the remainder, as well as the said twentieth part; but it is understood in regard to the two hundred ducats that though the sailors may bring back this amount the ship's-boys and pages will only bring back one penny in the pound according to the wages of each.

Furthermore in case in going or coming, or in the course of the said discovery, you should make any capture or prize, by sea or land, the fifth part having been taken for us, the remainder shall be divided into three portions, and you, the said captain, and the crew of the said caravel shall have yours, and the other two are for us and for the partners of the same.

For the which I ordered you to be given and gave you the present agreement signed with my name and countersigned by me, the undersigned secretary. Given at Valladolid on the twenty-seventh day of the month of March one thousand five hundred and twenty-three. I the King. To You Most Honourable Sirs, Messrs. the Lieutenant, Sheriffs and Council of the city of Bayonne:

Bartholemew de Montausier, citizen of the present city, makes very humble petition, setting forth how he has loaded his ship to go, at God's pleasure, to Newfoundland for fish, and this being so, in order to undertake the said voyage several things are wanting. Among others it is necessary to have twenty-four butts of cider, which the said petitioner possesses at Seinhaxs², and he would like to have them put on board his said vessel if you, Sirs aforesaid, are willing; or even twenty butts, and to take four butts from the present city; and it is not possible for him to take more for the reason that the said petitioner has no money; or if you should wish to force him to do otherwise, the said petitioner would have to procure money on change, which would be to his prejudice and harm. In consideration of which the said suppliant begs, petitions and asks you, Sirs aforesaid, to grant him licence and permission to be allowed to take the said twenty-four butts of cider in the manner aforesaid; and in doing this you will be doing well, and the said petitioner will be under obligation to pray God for your noble estates.

The present request having been read, it has been ordered that the said petitioner [take] two-thirds of his cider from that free from duty, before the ship leaves port, and this done, he shall come before My Lord the Lieutenant who will examine or cause the said cider to be examined: and afterwards the said

E dixéronle que heran yngleses de dentro de la cibdad de Londres, y que la nao era del rrey de Ynglaterra. Preguntóles, qué venian á buscar en estas partes? Dixeronle quel rrey avia armado aquella nao y otra para yr a descubrir la tierra del Gran Can, y que yendo, les dió un tenporal en el camino, que se perdió la una de la otra, por manera que nunca mas la habia visto, e que ellos siguieron su viaje e dieron en un mar elado, é que hallavan yslas grandes de yelo, e no pudiendo por alli pasar, tomaron otra derrota e dieron en otra mar caliente como una caldera quando hierve con agua; é por miedo que aquella agua no les derriesra la pez de la nao, se bolvieron é vinyeron a Reconoscer a los Vacallaos, donde hallaron bien çinquenta naos, castellanas y francesas e portuguesas, pescando, é que alli quisieron salir en tierra por tomar lengua de los yndios, e saliendo en tierra, les mataron los yndios al piloto, el qual dixeron que hera piamontés de naçion; e de alli partieron, e vinieron la costa de la tierra nueva, donde fué a pob-

The Statement obtained from the English ship when at the Island of Mona on her way to Hispaniola'.

That while he [Gines Navarro] was loading the said caravel with cassava, last Tuesday, the nineteenth of the present month of November, there arrived a vessel of 250 tons' burden², and three main-tops; and taking her for a ship from Spain, he went towards her in his boat. And they came off in their pinnace manned by 25 or 30 men with as many as 25 men in the boat and the captain of the said ship in command. All were armed with corselets, bows and arrows and some cross-bows; and in the bow were two lombards, the matches of which were alight.

On reaching them, he inquired from what country they came? They answered they were Englishmen from the city of London, and that the vessel belonged to the king of England. He asked them what they had come to look for in those parts? They told him the king had fitted out that vessel and another to go and discover the land of the Great Khan, but that on the way, they met with a storm, during which they lost sight of their consort and had never seen her again. They held on their course and reached the frozen sea where they met large islands of ice. Being unable to pass that way, they altered their course but ran into a sea as hot as water in a boiler. For fear lest that water should melt the pitch of their vessel, they turned about and came to explore Newfoundland, where they found some 50 Spanish, French and Portuguese fishing-vessels. They desired to land there in order to have tidings of the Indians, but on reaching the shore the Indians killed the pilot, who they said was a Piedmontese by birth. Setting sail thence they made their way for some 400 leagues and more along the coast of the new land where Allyon took his colony.³ Thence they crossed over and came to explore the island of St. John.⁴

He asked them what they were looking for in these islands? They answered that they wished to examine them in order to give the king of England an account thereof: when they had explored them, they would take a load of Brazil-wood and return home. They inquired for the course to San Domingo and about the harbour there, and who was in charge of the island, as they wished to go and examine it. He told them everything and they made a note of the same.

The captain of the English ship invited Gines Navarro to come on board; which he did and was shown all over it. She had only wine, flour and provisions, with some clothes, linen goods and other articles for barter, and much good artillery. There were also carpenters, smiths and a forge, other artisans, tools to build more vessels in case of necessity and an oven for baking bread. The whole ship's company that he saw would number as many as 70 people. He states that the captain asked him if he could read Latin or Spanish: for he wished to show him the orders he brought from the king of England. Since he was unable to read, he did not see them.

The captain and some 25 or 30 men went ashore at Mona and remained there until Wednesday afternoon. All came armed. They went on board for San Domingo, and on Thursday morning shot off two lombards and blew a trumpet and set sail in the direction of San Domingo, until they were out of sight.

The said Gines Navarro remained at Mona until Friday, when he came to this island.

This copy was taken from the original that was sent to the royal Audiencia of St. John's island, which was obtained from the captain of a caravel that lay at Mona island when the English ship passed by on her way to this harbour of San Domingo: Diego Cavallo.

En la noble cibdad de Santo Domingo del puerto desta ysla española de las Yndias del mar oçiano, ocho dias del mes de dyzienbre, año del nascymiento de nuestro salvador Jesu Cristo, de mill e quinientos e veynte e syete años, ante el muy noble señor Lope de Bardeca, teniente de Gobernador en esta dicha cibdad e ysla española, por el yllustre e muy manifico señor Don Luys Colon, Almirante, VisoRey e Governador en estas partes por Su Magestad; y en presençia de mi, Gonzalo Gomez, escribano de Su Magestad e del abdiencia e juzgado del dicho Señor teniente, paresçio presente Joan Ximenez, Procurador de cabsas, e vezino desta dicha cibdad, en boz e en nombre de Francisco de Tapia, alcaýde de la fortaleza e bezino e Regidor desta cibdad, e por virtud del poder que del presento junto con un escripto de pedimento, e con ciertas preguntas al pié del que, uno en pos dotro, es este que se sigue:

Muy noble Señor:

Francisco de Tapia, alcaýde por Su Magestad de la fortaleza de Santo Domingo, paresce ante vuestra merced e digo: quel el lunes proximo pasado llego al puerto desta cibdad una nao de Yngalaterra de armada; e yo enbié al Licençiado Lebron e al licenciado Cuago, oydores que a la sazón eran, a les dezir que me hyziesen saber, sy dexarian entrar la nao o no. Los quales me respondyeron que me lo harian saber; la qual respuesta jamas me enbiaron; e otro día por la mañana entro la nao a anclear, y querian entrar en el puerto; e como yo tenga la fortaleza para la guarda del, por saber como venia, le tyré un tiro de artilleria pequeño a Redrado de la dicha nao, para que hiziese seña, como es costumbre. La qual nao se fué; e porque cerca de lo susodicho, e de lo que en razón dello sucedió, yo tengo nescesidad de hazer una ynformacion ad perpetua Rey memoria, para la presentar ante Su Magestad e su muy alto Consejo, porque sepa e sea ynformado de lo que pasa, pido a vuestra merced mande desaminar los testigos que por mi parte fueren presentados, e me mande dar sus dichos e depusyçiones, de manera que haga fee, cerrados e sellados, para qualquier parte e ante quien presentare la dicha probança; los quales pido que sean desaminados por las preguntas syguientes: Primeramente, &c.

XV (sic) Yten: Si saben &c. que al tiempo que el dicho capitan e maestre e gente de la dicha nao ynglesa llego a esta dicha cibdad e puerto, venian dyseiando e publicando quella avia salido de Yngalaterra de armada, a descubrir cierto estrecho hazia la banda del norte, e que por falta de piloto, que se le avian muerto, venian a esta dicha ysla, en demanda dél, e no por otra cosa?.....

E despues de lo susodicho, este dicho día e mes e año susodicho, ante mi, el dicho Escribano, paresçio presente el dicho Juan Ximenez en el dicho nombre, e presento por testigos en la dicha cabsa a el licençiado Francisco de Prado e a Alonso d'Avila, vezino e regidor de esta dicha Cibdad, e a Diego Martel e a Juan Garcia, cavallero, todos vezinos de la dicha cibdad, e a Juan de Loaysa, estantes en ella; de los quales, e de cada uno dellos, yo, el dicho escribano, tomé e rescibí juramento sobre una señal de la cruz en que pusyeron su mano derecha, corporalmente, e por Dyos e por Santa Maria, e por las palabras de los Sagrados Evangelios, do quiera que mas largamente estan escriptas segund forma de derecho, so virtud del qual prometieron de dezir verdad; e lo que ellos e cada uno dellos dixeron e depusyeron, secreta e apartadamente, syendo preguntados por las preguntas del dicho ynterrogatorio, es lo syguiente:

Testigo.—El dicho Francisco de Prado, vezino desta cib-dad, testigo presentado en la dicha Razon por parte del dicho Francisco de Tapia, Alcayde, aviendo jurado segund derecho, e syendo preguntado por el tenor de las dichas preguntas, dixo e depuso lo syguiente:

A la primera pregunta, dixo, etc.

A las catorze (sic) preguntas dixo: Queste testigo oyo dezir todo lo contenido en la dicha pregunta publicamente que en esta dicha cibdad a todos los que hablaban en ello e lo avian hoydo al dicho capitan e maestre; e que a parescer deste testigo e a lo que puede alcançar, segund que vinieron a dar en este puerto que esta tan escondido en estas yslas, debia la dicha nao traer piloto, que lo sabia muy byen; e asi parescio quando venian de alta mar en demanda del dicho puerto, e aun quando se volvian, porque navegan la costa como personas que la sabian.

Testigo.—El dicho Alonso d'Avila, vezino e Regidor desta cibdad, etc.

A las catorze preguntas, dixo: Que lo que desta pregunta sabe, es que este testigo oyo dezir al patron de la dicha nao, estando en tierra, que aquella nao e otra que en su conserba avia venido, que se avia perdido, avian salido por mandado del Rey de Yngalaterra en demanda de un estrecho hazia la banda del norte, e que por falta del piloto que trayan, que se lo avian muerto en una tierra donde avian tocado, venian a esta ysla para ser ynformados de la navegacion para volver a su tierra; que tyene este testigo por cierto por lo que ha oydo dezir a onbres que saben del arte de la mar, que con mucho difycultad bolbiera la dicha nao a su tierra que no venir a esta ysla, desde donde dixo el dicho patron que venia; e que segund la nabegacion la dicha nao hizo para tomar este puerto, que a este testigo parescio que dentro venia persona que la sabia bien encaminar. .

Testigo.—El dicho Diego Martel, vezino desta dicha cibdad, etc.

A las catorze preguntas, dixo: Que lo que della sabe, es que la noche que pasaron los dichos dos marineros en casa deste testigo, queriendose este testigo ynformar de su venida, les preguntó que como avian arribado a este puerto, estando en mejor paraje de donde avian partido para yr a su tierra, que no para venir a este puerto? Los quales rrespondieron a este testigo, que el Rey de Yngalaterra los avia enbiado con dos naos a descubrir cierto estrecho que estaba a la banda de la Noruega, de donde ellos avian partido; y que como navegaron tanto hasta meterse sesenta e quatro grados debaxo del norte, por ser ynvierno como era, avian hallado toda la tierra elada, y que hazia tanto frio, que de frio se avian muerto quatro o cinco onbres de la nao; por manera que acordaron de venir a tierra caliente, e que por esto e porque se les avian muerto el piloto, era su venida e yntento de vender ciertas mercaderias de paños e liengos quen la nao traya, e tomar un onbre diestro en la mar, que los llevase a Yngalaterra; e questo es lo que los dichos dos onbres a este testigo dixeron, e que tiene por cierto que la nao no vyniera a este puerto si no fuera quen ella vyniera ombre que supiera la navegacion para traellos a este dicho puerto.....

Testigo.—El dicho Juan Garcia, caballero, vezino desta dicha cibdad, etc.....

A las catorze preguntas, dixo: Queste testigo oyo dezir lo en ella contenido en esta cibdad a algunas personas, e questo testigo cree que la dicha nao traya, a lo que le paresçe, piloto despaña o yngles que oviese estado en estas partes.....

Testigo.—El dicho Juan de Loaysa, estante en esta dicha cibdad, etc.....

A las catorze preguntas, dixo: Que al dicho patron hablando con el dicho lycenciado Cuago, le oyo dar la razon contenida en la pregunta, de su navegacion, e que le avian muerto el piloto en la tierra nueva con otros honbres, e que despues se creya e tuvo por cierto ser el contenido segund las mercancias que facia la dicha nao.....

Despues de lo susodicho, en la dicha cibdad de Santo Domingo, nueve dias del dicho mes de diziembre e del dicho año, en presencia de mi, el dicho Escribano, parescio presente el dicho Juan Ximenez en el dicho nombre, e presento por testigo en la dicha razon a Francisco Merchant, estante en la dicha cibdad, el qual juro en forma debida de derecho, e siendo preguntado por el thenor de las dichas preguntas, dixo e depuso lo siguiente:.....

A las catorze preguntas, dixo: Questando en el Coco este testigo, vino alli una pynaca con diez o doze onbres yngleses, la qual venia en la dicha nao, e que luego que los dichos ombres saltaron en tierra, preguntaron a este testigo, que como estaba esta cibdad de Santiago? E este testigo les dixo questaba muy buena; e les pregunto que qué gente heran? Los quales rrespondieron queran yngleses, e que la nao era ynglesa del Rey de Yngalaterra, que venia cargada de paños e de liengos, e que avian ydo a tierra Nueva e que hallaron la tierra muy baxa, e que los pilotos quen ella venian, que eran los mejores que avian venido aca, los avian traydo a esta cibdad de Santo Domingo.

E questo era quando la dicha nao venia hazia esta cibdad; e queste testigo les dyo cierto pescado fresco que tenia, para que comiesen; e luego se tornaron a meter en su pinaça e se vynieron hazia esta cibad, etc.....

LVIIIA.

Evidence taken at San Domingo owing to the Arrival of an English Vessel.

In the city of San Domingo at three o'clock on Tuesday the 26th day of the month of November 1527, Messrs. the licentiates Christopher Lebron and Alfonso Cuazo, judges of the Audiencia and Chancery of his majesty¹, being present in the Casas de la Contratacion, before me Diego Cavallo, secretary of the said royal Audiencia, their honours stated: that inasmuch as yesterday a large ship, with three main-tops, belonging to the king of England, had arrived at the mouth of this harbour and river², and the captain with ten or twelve sailors had come on shore in a boat, and had informed them how the said ship belonged to the king of England, and that it and another, some nine months since, had set out together from England in order at the king's command to explore a certain region in the north, between the Labrador's land³ and the Cod-fish land⁴, in the belief that they would find there a passage by which to sail to the discovery of Tartary; that they had sailed as far north as fifty degrees and more, where the cold had carried off some of their people, and having lost their pilot and their consort, they had come to this island to obtain fresh water and provisions and other things of which they stood in need; and they had asked them [the judges] for a safe-conduct in order to enter this harbour, and they [the judges] in the name of his majesty had given it, and had sent Diego Mendez, high constable of this island and Francis Martin and Pedro de Montes, pilots, on board with them to bring the said ship into this harbour: and as it was then almost night they were not able to bring her into harbour until this morning at ten o'clock, when the said ship anchored at the mouth of the river in order to come further in when the north wind dropped: and that while the said ship was at anchor, they have been informed and it is publicly known, that from the fortress of this city a lombard was fired, with a stone which passed close to the said ship, on which account the said ship at once made sail and goes off in the direction of Castille, etc.....

In the noble city and port of San Domingo on the island of Hispaniola¹ in the West Indies on the eighth day of the month of December in the year of the birth of our Saviour Jesus Christ 1527, before the noble gentleman Lope de Bardeca, Deputy in this said city and island of Hispaniola for the illustrious and very magnificent Don Louis Columbus, Admiral, Vice-roy and Governor for his majesty in these parts, and in presence of me, Gonzalo Gomez, notary of his majesty and of the said deputy's Audiencia and tribunal, appeared John Ximenez, attorney and burgess of this said city for and in behalf of Francis de Tapia, Governor of the Fort, and burgess and alderman of this city, and by virtue of the power of attorney from him which he showed, along with a written petition at the foot of which were certain questions, whereof the tenour, one after the other, was as follows:.....

Most Noble Sir,

I, Francis de Tapia, Governor for his majesty of the fortress of San Domingo, appear before your honour and say: that last Monday there arrived in the harbour of this city an armed vessel from England, and I sent to the Licentiates Lebron and Cuazo, at that time judges, to tell them to let me know whether or not they would allow the vessel to enter, who replied they would let me know, but sent no further word. And on the morning of the following day the ship entered and sought to anchor in the harbour; and as I have charge of the port as a guard over the same, in order to find out on what terms she was sailing in, I fired a small gun in rear of the said ship, in order that she should make a signal as is customary; but the ship sailed away. And since in virtue of the above and of what took place in consequence thereof, I am under the necessity of making a report as a royal record to be presented to his Majesty² and his Supreme Council, so that he may know and be informed of what took place, I beg your honour to order the witnesses presented by me to be examined, and to order their statements and depositions to be given to me, so that when closed and sealed, the said evidence may be valid everywhere and before whomever presented; which witnesses I beg be asked the following questions: First, etc.

Fifteenth (sic): Also whether they know, etc., that when the said captain, master and crew of the said ship reached this said city and harbour, they stated and gave out that she had set forth from England to discover a certain strait towards the northern parts, and that after the loss of the pilot, who had been killed, they came to this said island in search of one and for no other reason?.....

And after the aforesaid, this said day and month and year above-mentioned, before me, the said notary, appeared John Ximenez in the said name, and presented as witnesses in the said case the licentiate Francisco de Prado and Alonso d'Avila, burgess and alderman of this said city, and Diego Martel, and John Garcia, Esquire, all inhabitants of the said city, and John de Loaysa, present therein, from whom and each of whom I, the said notary, took and received the oath over the cross, whereon they corporally placed their right hands, and by God and St. Mary and by the words of the Holy Gospels, whereon they are further set forth according to law, promised in virtue thereof to state the truth: and that which they and each of them on being asked the questions in the said interrogatory, stated and deposed, secretly and openly, is as follows:

Witness: the said Francisco de Prado, inhabitant of this city, witness presented in the said affair on behalf of the said Francisco de Tapia, Governor, having taken the oath according to law, and being examined according to the tenour of the said questions, stated and deposed as follows:

To the first question he answered, etc.

As to the fourteenth question, he stated: that this witness heard all that is set forth in the said question publicly talked of in this said city among those who discussed the subject and had had it from the said captain and master; and that in the opinion of this witness and by what he can hear, in view of the fact that the said ship reached this harbour which is so hidden among these islands, she must have had on board a pilot who knew it very well; and this was seen both when she came in from the high seas in search of this harbour, and again when she went away; for they sailed the coast like people who knew it.

Witness: the said Alonso d'Avila, burgess and alderman of this city, etc.

As to the fourteenth question, he stated: that what he knows in answer to this question is, that this witness heard the captain of the said ship declare, when he was on shore, that that vessel and another, which had set out in consort with it and had been lost, had set forth by order of the king of England in search of a strait towards the northern parts; and that on the death of their pilot, who had been killed on a coast at which they had touched, they had come to this island in order to gather information about the course back to their country: that this witness thinks it certain from what he heard stated by men skilled in navigation, that the said ship would have had more difficulty in returning home than in coming to this island from the region whence the said captain affirmed she had come; that it appeared to this witness from the manner in which the said vessel made this harbour, there was some one on board who knew the route well.

Witness: the said Diego Martel, burgess of this said city, etc.

As to the fourteenth question, he stated: that what he knows of this, is that the night the said two sailors passed in this witness's house, desiring to find out whence they came, he asked them how they had arrived at this port, when they were in a better position to sail home than to come to this port? They answered this witness that the king of England had sent them with two ships to discover a certain strait that lay near Norway, whence they had set forth; and that after sailing as far north as 64°, it being winter, they found the land all frozen, and the cold so extreme that four or five men of this ship died, whereupon they agreed to come to a warm country, for which reason, and as their pilot had been killed, they had come with intent to sell certain clothes and linen goods they had on board, and to secure a skilled pilot to take them back to England. This is what the said two men told this witness, who is certain the ship would not have come to this port, had there not been on board a man who knew the course to bring them to this said harbour.

Witness: the said John Garcia, Esquire, burgess of this said city, etc.

As to the fourteenth question he stated: that this witness heard the same affirmed by some people in this city; and that this witness is of opinion that the said vessel had on board, to all appearances, a Spanish or English pilot, who had been in these parts.....

Witness: the said John de Loaysa, present in this said city, etc.....

As to the fourteenth question, he stated: that when the said master spoke with the said licentiate Cuazo, he heard him give the reason for his voyage that is set out in the question; and that their pilot had died in Newfoundland with other men; and that afterwards this was believed and held to be certain from the goods on board the said ship.....

After the above, in the said city of San Domingo on the ninth day of the said month of December, in the said year, in presence of me the said notary, appeared the said John Ximenez in the said name, and presented as a witness in the said matter Francisco Merchant, of the said city, who made oath according to law, and being questioned by the tenour of the said questions, stated and deposed as follows:.....

To the fourteenth question he made answer: that while this witness was in Coco there arrived a pinnace with ten or twelve Englishmen from the said ship, and as soon as they came on shore they asked this witness about the condition of this city of San Juan¹. And this witness told them it was in good condition; and he asked them who they were? They replied they were Englishmen, and that the ship was an English vessel belonging to the king of England, loaded with wollen stuffs and linens; and that they had been to Newfoundland and found the coast very low and that the pilots they had on board, who were the best that had been this way, had brought them to this city of San Domingo. And that this was when the said vessel was coming towards this city; and that this witness gave them some fresh fish to eat, and thereupon they returned to their boat and came towards this city, etc.....

(? St. Brieuc) in Brittany, we have heard how this vessel, with a cargo of salted fish called flysshe of the new founde iland, after being tossed about in a very bad storm and heavy sea, sought safety and shelter, on the twenty-third of October last, at a certain part of the coast near Ramsgate, on the south side of the island of Thanet in our county of Kent; and when this ship was then safe from the storm, certain malfactors, violators and contempters of the treaty of friendship entered into and concluded between ourselves and our very dear brother and cousin, Francis, king of the French, broke into that ship and seized and carried off both the fish and other goods then on board, as well as divers parts of the rigging. We, being desirous that the aforesaid treaty of friendship should be duly carried out on our part and that justice should be done in this matter, and having full confidence in your fidelity, have appointed five, four and three of you to open an inquiry with the help of venerable, honest and lawful men in any places whatsoever, as well within the jurisdiction of the aforesaid Cinque Ports as elsewhere in the aforesaid county of Kent, through whom the truth of the matter may be the better known, and in other ways, manners and means, by which the better you may learn or find out what malfactors and violators of the aforesaid friendship broke into the aforesaid ship and seized the fish, goods and tackle of the same, and how much of these fish, goods and tackle they carried off, and into whose hand or hands the aforesaid fish, goods and tackle came, and in whose hands they now are, and to seize, capture and take possession of these fish, goods and tackle wherever they be found, as well within the jurisdiction [of the Cinque Ports] as outside of it, and to cause these, if they be in existence, to be given back and delivered up to the aforesaid Jean Collays or his deputy or deputies in this matter, or the price or true value if they do not exist, and should you discover any person or persons refusing to restore and hand over the same, then to commit these to our prison or have them detained there safely and securely, until we shall have considered what is to be done in their case; and duly to certify to us in our Chancery their names, deeds and acts and all the circumstances pertaining to the aforesaid matters. And therefore we command you to inquire diligently into the above and to carry out and fulfil the same in the manner aforesaid and to return us an explicit and clear account of all you do in this matter under the seal of the five, four or three of you, on the morrow of the next Purification of the Blessed Mary [3 February, 1532] in our aforesaid Chancery, wherever it may then be. Moreover, by the tenour of these presents we duly command all and singular to whom this matter pertains, diligently to aid, counsel and help the five, four or three of you wherever possible in the execution of the above. We also, by the tenour of these presents, command our sheriff of Kent, on the days and at the places you may fix [to assemble] before the five, four or three of you as many and such honest and lawful men of his bailiwick as may aid to the truth of the aforesaid being better known and inquired into. EXTRACTS FROM CONTARINI'S REPORT ON SEBASTIAN CABOT.

Relazione letta in senato.

Note a Cabotta. Concorda a non farlo Inglese anche una manuscritta relazione, che esiste presso di noi, di Marcantonio Contarini, Ambasciatore in Ispagna nel 1534, che dice:

Sebastian Cabotto, figlio d'un Veneziano, quale andette in Inghilterra suso le Galie Venete con fantasia di cercar paesi, etc.

Note. Dice il Contarini, che il Cabotta: ebbe do nave da Enrico Re de Anglia (Padre de Errico moderno, che è fatto Luterano, e peggio) e con 300. uomini navigò tanto che trovò il mar congelato. Questo è il viaggio, di cui parlato abbiamo di sopra, fatto del 1496, per trovare il passaggio da un mare all' altro, e fin quì dice il vero. Segue lo stesso: Onde convenne al Cabotto ritornarsene senza aver l'intento suo cum presupposito però di ritornarsene a quella impresa a tempo che il mar non fosse congelato: Nè anche quì c'è che opporre. Aggiungne: Trovò il Re morto, e il figlio curarsi poco di tale impresa.

Report read in the Senate.

Note on Cabot. Also agrees in not making him English, an MS. report, in our hands, by Marcantonio Contarini, ambassador in Spain in 1534, which states:

Sebastian Cabot, son of a Venetian, who went to England on the Venetian galleys with the idea of searching for new lands, etc.

Note. Contarini states that Cabot, had two ships from Henry, King of England, (father of the modern Henry who became Lutheran and worse) and with 300 men sailed so far that he found the sea frozen. This is the voyage of which we have spoken above, made in 1496, in order to find the passage from one ocean to the other; and thus far he states what is true. He continues: Whence Cabot had to return without having carried out his purpose, intending, however, to make a fresh attempt when the sea was not frozen. Nor here can any objection be raised. He adds: He found the king dead and the son little interested in such an undertaking.

De la que al presente queremos tratar es comunemente dicha tierra del Labrador, puesta en controversia de opiniones si es cortada del continente d'Engrovelandia¹, de quien en la primera parte hizimos mencion, o si es tierra continuada del continente setentrional de Europa, loqual está por averiguar² hasta oy por la indisposicion del lugar, que es tan fria que no es tratable sino en el estio. Antonio Gaboto della dixo, que avia ydo costeando la tierra y costa setentrional hasta mas adelante de la tierra de los Bacallaos, y hasta casi la Florida, y que en jullio¹ avia tan grandes tempanos y pedaços de yelo sobre el mar, mayores que las naos que llevavan, que venian de hazia la tierra alañados por los rrios, que apenas se podian defender dellos; pero esta rrelacion fué muy confusa, y a quien no se dio mucha fee, por ser la primera. Olao Magno da a entender estar divisa, por manera que avria paso segun el por alli y a la rredonda de Escondia para yr a las islas orientales, loqual se a de entender por la parte oriental della. Que por la occidental hasta la tierra de los Bacallaos se afirma de unos dos hermanos portugueses, llamados Cortes rreales, que fueron a ella con licencia del Rey de Portugal, para la abitar, y de quien se dixo tambien la tierra de los Corte Reales, o Corteratos, corrubto el vocablo, estos pues aseveraron partirse del gran continente de las Indias occidentales, cuyo extremo parte ellos tenian, desta isla del Labrador por una canal muy ancha y grande de mar, de la qual el piloto Antonio Gaboto, arriba dicho, tambien tuvo noticia. Fué dicha tierra del Labrador porque dio della aviso e indicio un labrador de las islas de los Agores al Rey de Inglatierra quando el la enbio a descubrir por Antonio Gaboto, piloto ingles y padre de Sebastian Gaboto, piloto mayor que fué² de Vuestra Magestad, y dende estonces se frequenta de ingleses que van a ella por pescados, que toman muchos los de la tierra, que afirman ser de las mismas costumbres que los de Capania,³ provincia en Escondia, que al principio de la primera parte diximos. Afirmase ser la tierra muy abitada, y de muchos arboles y buenas aguas, y de rrios muy caudalosos, y muchas islas pequenas⁴ junto a ella por toda la costa, de mucha frescura; y pesca de muchos pescados. De verano tiene gentil vista por la mucha arboleda que dicen que tiene, lo que no tiene de invierno, por las muchas nieves. Tiene pues la costa austral della, que es lo que hasta el dia de oy esta descubierta, ciento y cinquenta leguas de largo, levante puniente, desde un cabo mas oriental, llamado cabo Gruesso, hasta otro llamado cabo de las Yslas. Isla de San Juan; Islas de las Virgines.

Junto a la costa de la tierra que arriba diximos llamarse de los Bachallaos, donde fueron a poblar los Corte Reales, dos hermanos portugueses, y primero reconocida del piloto Antonio Gaboto, ingles, por mandado de El Rey de Ynglatierra, estan muchas yslas, grandes y pequeñas, de todas las quales, el día de oy, ay poca noticia a causa de ser la tierra muy fria y de poco provecho, y aver muerto en ella los dos hermanos dichos con toda la gente que llevaron, sin saber como, porque nunca se supo cosa dellos, desde a poco tiempo que a ella llegaron, por loqual y por el poco provecho de la tierra, no a querido el Rey de Portugal tornar a embiar alla gente ni armada alguna²; pero tienese por muy mejor tierra que la del Labrador³ por ser mas caliente. Hallanse a la parte oriental desta tierra muchas islas y con nombres las siguientes: la primera se llama isla de la Fortuna, laqual está en el brago de mar o estrecho que passa entre esta tierra de los Bacallaos y la isla del Labrador.⁴ Llamóse de la Fortuna porque junto a ella hubo una gran [fortuna de mar] una armada de Portugal que alli fué quando fueron los Corte Reales; y otra, San Juan, a la boca de un gran rrio; y otra San Pedro. Fueron [les] puestos estos nombres por se aver descubierto en días destos bienaventurados aposteles. Son desiertas, y al derredor dellas se pescan muchos pescados. Mas al medio día de las dichas, estan otras dos o tres islas altas, llamadas de Aves, porque al principio que se descubrieron, vieron⁵ en ellas muchas aves, como unas que aca llaman Rabiahorcados; y no ay otra cosa de provecho en ellas. Mas al medio día estan otras llamadas de los Patos, y otras aves de agua. Son yslas llanas y arenosas y de poco provecho. Al ocidente destas por catorze leguas está una isleta baxa, y llena de baxos a la rredonda, que la llamaron por esta causa *isla Baxa*⁶. Al austro de la tierra de los Bacallaos y junto al cabo llamado d'Espera, estan tres islas, la mayor de las quales sera de hasta tres o quatro leguas, deshabitadas; y mas al ocidente destas y dentro de una baya que se dize de Santa Maria, ay muchas isletas pequeñas, y todas desiertas, y de grandes pesquerias entre ellas, las quales se anegan con las avenidas que el rio tiene en los inviernos. Y junto al cabo de Santa Maria, que es luego passada la baya, estan tres yslas como casi en triangulo, de hasta ocho leguas de largo cada una, con otros isleos a la rredonda, las quales se llaman las Onze mill Virgines, todas despobladas y sin algun¹ provecho. Al derredor desta tierra y costa ay muy grande abundancia de pescados, por laqual causa vienen cada año muchos bretones e irlandeses a pescar a ellas por el rrio, y llevan cargados sus navios dellos. Los pescados que mas comunmente aqui se hallan, son bacallaos, que son unos pescados que salados se conservan mucho; y se llevan en las naos para bastimento, y se gastan en toda la costa de Francia,² y aun de Galizia. Al medio dia desta tierra de los Bacalhaos y de la baya de Santa Maria, por cinquenta leguas, está una isla llamada *Juan Estevez*³, laqual se dixo assi por un piloto que la descubrio, assi llamado, viniendo a pescar aqui: y tambien se han descubierto otras que estan al poniente desta, assi acaso, andando pescando por este mar; pero todas son deshabitadas y de poco provecho. Estan en altura de quarenta y seis grados; y las que arriba diximos estar junto a la costa del continente, desde quarenta y ocho⁴ a cinquenta y uno, y en el clima noveno; y su mayor dia de 16 horas y un quarto. Passadas las islas de las Honze mill Virgines haze la mar una muy gran ensenada, llamada baya de Bretones, por la venida que hazen cada año a pescar a esta baya y tierra los dichos bretones. En esta baya o ensenada dizen aver muchas islas y todas despobladas. Principalmente ay una pequeña dicha de Sant Elmo, a laqual le pusieron el tal nombre ciertos pescadores bretones, porque una noche tomandoles sobrella una tormenta, dizen que vieron en la isla muchas candelas ardiendo, a que ellos llaman Sant Elmo, que dizen que viene en tal figura. Passada la dicha baya, mas al ocidente y junto a una punta llamada Cabo Breton, comienza a prolongarse por la costa una isla, levante a poniente, dicha de San Juan, que tiene de largo cinquenta y seis leguas, y por lo mas ancho veinte. Esta isla dixeron algunos pilotos que no estava en esta parte de mar, sino metida en la baya que diximos llamarse de los Bretones: y en muchas cartas de navegar, a los principios quando esta tierra se començo a descubrir, se ponía¹ asi, hasta que Estevan Gomez, piloto, truxo esta rrelacion algo discrepante de la que se tenia, que es estar esta isla no en la baya do dezian que estava, sino junto á esta tierra do agora está. De laqual isla, no ay cosa que de contarse, a salvo que el dicho Estevan Gomez, piloto, dize que a la passada por ella, vido muchos humos en ella y señales de ser habitada. Hazese una canal entre ella y tierra firme llamada canal de San Julian, de cinco o seis leguas de ancho. Esta isla dizen tener [muy] buena vista y mucha arboleda, y rrios que salen a la mar. Tiene a la rredonda de sy muchos isleos, todos deshabitados. Está desde quarenta y seis a quarenta y siete grados y medio², y en el clima octavo. Tiene su mayor dia de quinze oras y dos tercios. Junto al Cabo Breton se hallan algunas isletas deshabitadas, do ay muchas aves, y al derredor dellas ay grandes pesquerias.

LXIIA.

The region of which we wish now to treat is commonly called the Labrador's land [Greenland], the point being disputed whether it is separated from the continent of Engrovelandia [Norway]¹, whereof we have spoken in part I, or of it is one continuous coast with the northern continent of Europe. This point even to-day awaits verification, on account of the insalubrity of this region, which is so cold that it is accessible only in summer. Ziegler is of opinion that this [Green] land is continuous with Escondia [Scandinavia], being influenced by what Antonio Gaboto stated in this connection, who had coasted the northern shores as far as a point beyond the Cod-fish land [Newfoundland] and almost as far as Florida. [He affirmed] that in July there were such large ice-floes and icebergs, larger than their ships, which moved along the coast with the current, that with difficulty they were able to avoid them. But this account was very confused and being the first, not much credence was given to it.

Olaus Magnus² gives us to understand that this [Green] land is cut off, so that according to him there should be a passage on that side and round Escondia [Scandinavia] to sail to the eastern islands, that is to say on the eastern side of the same. With regard to the western side of [Greenland] towards the Codfish land [Newfoundland], it is stated that two Portuguese brothers named Corte Real, who made their way to that region under licence from the king of Portugal to inhabit the same, and after whom that region [our Newfoundland and Labrador]¹, is also called the land of the Corte Reals, or by corruption of a syllable Corte Ratos, affirmed that the great continent of the West Indies [North America], the extreme point of which they were occupying, was separated from the Labrador's island [Greenland] by a large wide ocean strait, of which the pilot Antonio Gaboto had also knowledge.

It was called the Labrador's land because a husbandman [Labrador] from the Açores islands gave tidings and information about it to the king of England when he sent Antonio Gaboto, the English pilot and the father of Sebastian Gaboto, who was your Majesty's Pilot major, to discover it. From that time the English have frequented it on account of the fish which are caught in quantities by the natives who are said to have the same customs as those of Lapland, a province in Escondia [Scandinavia], whereof we have spoken in Part I. The English bring thence rare and valuable furs, and transport thither merchandise that pleases the natives. It is stated that the country is well populated, with many trees, fine streams and very large rivers. Along the whole coast are many small, very pleasant islands. The fishing is also good. In summer the land has a pleasant appearance on account of the many trees that are said to grow there; but in winter, from the quantity of snow, it loses this. The southern coast of this [Green] land, which is the only part so far explored, is 150 leagues long, east and west, from the most eastern point called the Great cape [Cape Desolation] to another called the Cape of Islands [Cape Farewell]. Many fine rivers enter the sea from this land, and off the coast lie numerous uninhabited and unproductive islands. On the western side there is a large bay full of islands. This land lies in latitude 50° and in the eleventh climate. Its longest day is 17 hours 15 minutes.

ST. JOHN'S ISLAND: ISLANDS OF THE VIRGINS.

Off the coast of the land which we stated above was called the Cod-fish land [Newfoundland and Labrador], where the Corte Reals, two Portuguese brothers, went to settle, and which was first explored by the English pilot Antonio Gaboto by command of the king of England, lie many islands, large and small, in regard to which even to-day our information is scanty, because the land is cold and produces little of value, and because of the deaths of the said two brothers with all their men, no one knows in what manner; for shortly after their arrival there nothing further was ever heard of them, on which account and because of the slight profit from that land, the king of Portugal has been unwilling to send thither a fresh company or fleet. Being warmer it is held to be a better country than the Labrador's land [Greenland].

Off the east coast of this land [Newfoundland and Labrador] lie numerous islands named as follows:—the first is called Storm island and lies in the arm of the sea or [Davis] strait, which separates this Cod-fish land from the Labrador's island [Greenland]. It was named Storm island from a great storm met with near it by a fleet from Portugal at the time the Corte Reals visited those parts.¹ Another, lying at the mouth of a large river, is called St. John's island and a third, St. Peter. They received these names from having been discovered on the festivals of those blessed apostles.² They are desert but many fish are caught in the neighbouring waters.

South of these lie two or three other high islands named *Bird islands*³, because when first discovered many birds were observed on them, and among these some we call pelicans. They produce nothing else of value. Further south lie others called Duck islands, with more sea-fowl. These islands are flat, sandy and of little value. Some 14 leagues west of these lies a low island surrounded with reefs on which account it is called *Low island*⁴.

South of the Cod-fish land and near a cape named Expectation [Cape Spear]⁵ lie three uninhabited islands, the largest of which might be three or four leagues in size.⁶ West of these, in a bay named St. Mary's bay⁷ are numerous small desert islands with good fishing in the neighbouring waters. These islands are submerged in the winter by the freshets. Near cape St. Mary, which lies just beyond the bay of that name, are three islands, each some eight leagues long, which almost form a triangle with other rocky islets round about. These, which are uninhabited and produce nothing, are called the 11,000 Virgins.⁸

⁵ Cape Spear lies 3½ miles S.E. of St. Johns.

⁶ Cape Spear islands, three in number, are quite small.

⁷ This bay lies between Cape Race and Placentia bay.

⁸ Our St. Pierre and Miquelon islands.

Off the coast of this land is great abundance of fish, for which reason many Bretons and Irish come there every year to fish. Of these they carry away shiploads. The fish most commonly caught are the cod, which when salted can be kept for a long time. These are transported abroad for food and are sold throughout the whole coast of France and Galicia.

South of this Cod-fish land and of St. Mary's bay, some 50 leagues, lies an island named John Estevez's island¹ which was so named in memory of the pilot who discovered it, when on his way here to fish. And others have also been discovered in this manner by chance by those who were on their way to fish in these waters. All are uninhabited and of slight utility. They lie in 46°; and those mentioned above as being off the coast of this continent, lie from 48° to 51°, and in the ninth climate. Their longest day is 16 hours and 20 minutes.

Beyond the islands of the 11,000 Virgins the sea forms a very large bay called the *bay of the Bretons*², on account of the arrival every year in this bay and off this coast of the said Bretons for fish. There are said to be many uninhabited islands in this bay. Especially there is a small one called St. Elmo³, which was so named by some Breton fishermen, because one night a storm caught them off this island, on which they declare they saw many burning candles, called by them St. Elmo, who is said to appear in that form.

Beyond the said bay and further to the west near a cape named *Cape Breton*⁴ lies an island named St. John's island, stretching east and west along the coast for some 56 leagues. It is 20 leagues in width at the widest part. Some pilots stated that this island did not lie here but was up in the bay named the Bretons' bay as already stated, and in the beginning when this land was first discovered it was so placed on the sailing charts, until Stephen Gomez, the pilot, brought back this information which was slightly different from that which then was known, which is that this island does not lie in the bay where they said it did, but along this coast, as is now stated. There is nothing to report about this island save that the said pilot Stephen Gomez states that when passing it, he saw many fires⁵ and signs of habitation. There is a passage between it and the mainland called St. Julian's channel, from five to six leagues in width. This island is said to present a pleasant appearance with many groves and rivers that flow down to the sea. In the neighbourhood are many small islands, all uninhabited. It stretches from 46° to $47^{\circ} 30'$ and is in the eighth climate. Its longest day is 15 hours and 40 minutes.

Near Cape Breton are found some small uninhabited islands, frequented by quantities of birds, while the fishing in the waters about them is very good.

ISLANDS OFF THE LAND DISCOVERED BY THE PILOT STEPHEN GOMEZ.

The pilot Stephen Gomez, of whom we have already spoken, in the expedition made by him at the command and by licence of the emperor, our master, in search of and in order to discover Cathay or the eastern city of India, as well as that so-much-sought-for strait or passage leading to the sea commonly called the South sea, discovered, during the 10 months he was absent, a large number of islands along the coast of this continent, and especially a very wide, deep river which he named Deer river [the bay of Fundy] on account of the number of these found there. This river was everywhere dotted with islands, on which in summer the Indians from the mainland took up their quarters for the sake of the quantities of salmon, shad, pickerel and other varieties of fish found in those waters. Gomez sailed for some distance up this river, thinking it was the strait of which he was in search. Eventually he discovered it to be a large, deep river. From this fact an idea may be formed of the size and extent of that continent.

And although he shared the general opinion about the strait or passage which as we have already stated separates the Cod-fish land continent [North America] from the land called the Labrador's land [Greenland], yet he was convinced it was unnecessary to attempt it because of the cold in those parts, which would always be a bar. This opinion and his excuse for not attempting that passage were accepted as so reasonable that no further attempt has ever been made to proceed with this matter, although of great importance to your Majesty's interests and service, since through that channel a claim was laid to the trade and conquest of the Moluccas and to many more islands in those parts belonging of right to your royal crown.

Should this strait or passage be found open, and in view of what is known to-day of the passage round Escondia [Scandinavia] this is possible, yet there remains one great obstacle, which would be the extreme difficulty for persons accustomed to such a different temperature, or one so far removed as is that of Spain from the cold in the north, [to pass that way]. On which account should the great cares that burden your Majesty allow your magnanimous heart to conceive of a matter so useful and necessary as the junction of the South sea with the Western ocean across that isthmus from Panama to Nombre de Dios¹, which the lie of the land favours so much that out of a total of 17 leagues, 12 are traversed by a river so even and easy that brigantines and barks are able to sail up it, not 62 miles would require to be excavated, as Sosostris, king of Egypt², attempted and after him Darius, king of the Persians, which Ptolemy afterwards almost completed in seeking to connect the Red sea with the river Nile in Egypt, (which attempt for various reasons was abandoned, although not more than 15 miles remained uncut), [but only 5 leagues would require to be excavated].

Returning to the islands in Deer river [the bay of Fundy] and those lying off the neighbouring continent, these, as I have already explained, are nearly all of them inhabited, principally in the summer by Indians like those of St. Domingo, of whom we shall speak presently; although these men and women have finer bodies. They sharpen the bows, arrows and spears with which they fight by toasting them. Their land has a temperate climate and is covered with the trees common to those regions such as evergreens, oaks and olives. Many wild vines are found which bear grapes, and many plants and herbs similar to those of Spain. There is much marcasite which they mistook for gold. They brought home to Spain in the galleon many Indians, whom they afterwards set at liberty.

LXIVA.

It will be 45 or 50 years ago that certain noblemen of Vianna associated themselves together and in view of the information in their possession regarding the Codfish-land of Newfoundland determined to settle some part thereof, as in truth they did in a ship and a caravel, but finding the region to which they were bound, very cold, they sailed along the coast from east to west until they reached that running northeast and southwest, and there they settled. And as they had lost their ships, nothing further was heard of them, save from the Basques who continue to visit that coast in search of the many articles to be obtained there, who bring word of them and state that they [the settlers] asked them to let us know how they were, and to take out priests; for the natives are submissive and the soil very fertile and good, as I have been more fully informed, and is well known to those who sail thither. This is at cape Breton, at the beginning of the coast that runs north, in a beautiful bay, where there are many people and goods of much value and many nuts, chesnuts, grapes and other fruits, whereby it is clear the soil is rich. And in this company went also some families from the Azores islands whom they took on board on their way out, as is well known. May our Lord in his mercy open a way by which to succour them. And my purpose is to go to this coast, in the voyage I shall make to the island of San Francisco,¹ which can all be done in one journey.

Since at the time the ancients gave² information of these islands, the route had not been brought to the perfection it now is, it is necessary to feel one's way in those parts with an addition of one degree to the north or to the south and between west and east, coming back by the best course known to the traders, should God not be pleased to send me there, since in addition to a knowledge of navigation, I possess other rules of the mathematical sciences and a good mind for all that is required in the said discovery. And may God ordain what is best for His holy service. And I have written this and whatever else is among my papers, because I never know what the Lord God will do with me, and therefore should this prove of use to any one, I beg him to pray to God for my soul, as I do in behalf of those who collected the information in my possession; for this is the duty of a good neighbour and of all mine; and all may be thus, as was and is the most part that is inhabited.
